Would Cause a Rise.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

LONDON, March 8.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The prospect is that money will continue plentiful. The rates are easy. The stock market was dull for the week on the political situation. Investment stocks continue firm. Home railways were weak on profit-taking, but traffic was good. The Board of Trade returns were very favorable and a settlement of the political troubles would produce a smart rise. Mines were very dull, with a downward tendency on account of the labor troubles.

Foreign securities, especially Italian and Spanish, were weak, but closed yesterday rather firmer. American securities were affected by the Burlington and Ohio trouble. The Barings, Morgan & Co., Brown, Shipley & Co., have formed a committee to protect the interests of English holders. American securities were well sustained, considering the adverse influence of Burlington and Ohio and the Cuban affair. The week's movements, except for the Burlington and Ohio, were small. EL PASO (Tex.,) March 8.—The dead EL PASO (Tex.) March 8.—The dead body, of an American found six miles from El Paso on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande, has been identified as that of a Mr. Boyle of Cripple Creek, Colo. He had a bullet hole through his head and his neck was broken. His murderer had evidently first lassooed him and dragged him around till his neck was broken, and then shot him through the head, as the side of his head was powder-burned. GY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) March 8.—(By Atlantic Canere is much difficulty being ble.) There is much difficulty being found in the task of forming a new ministry. Signor Saracco has declined the responsibility, while the attempt to form a Saracco and Rudini combination has also failed. It is announced tonight, however, that the Marquis di Rudini has succeeded in forming a Cabinet with himself as Premier and Minister of the Interior; Gen. Ricotti, Minister of War; Signor Perazzi, Minister of the Treasury, and Admiral Racchia, Minister of Marine. It developed later that the forma-It developed later that the forms tion of the Cabinet had been undertaken by Gen. Ricotti. King Humbert conferred with Gen. Ricotti at 7 o'clock this evening, and charged him with the formation of a cabinet. The result was a cabinet made up as already cabled, Gen. Ricotti yielding to the Marquis di Rudini the premiership, and himself assuming the Portfolio of War, as indicated above. Further members of the Cabinet decided upon are: Signor Guicciardini, Minister of Finance, and Signor Granturce, Minister of Justice. Gen. Baldissera has been authorized to withdraw the Cassala garrison, should their position become endangered. The reports that Cassals is surrounded by dervishes has not been confirmed.

IN A BAD FIX. IN A BAD FIX.

BERLIN, March & The long visits of Emperor William to Chancellor von Hohenlohe, Baron won Bieberstein, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, and the Austrian Ambassador on Saturday, have given an impulse to speculation in the press and in political circles on the subject of the visit this week to Berlin of Count Goluchhowski, the Austrian Minister for Foreign Affairs, and the future relation of Italy to the Dreibund, which are undoubtedly the subject of Count Goluchowski's mission. The papers generally counsel Italy to make the utmost sacrifice to save her honor and they hint that Germany and Austria will support this policy. The Boersen Courier, on the contrary, contends that Italy's position would not be weakened if she withdrew from the African venture.

The fear of England's attitude since the Transvaal affair is also a factor in the situation.

LONDON, March 8.—(By Atlantic Ca-LONDON, March 8.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The correspondent of the Times at New York, discussing the Venezuela boundary dispute, declares there is no reason to suppose that direct negotiations between England and Venezuela on the boundary question will have a good result. "The controversy," the correspondent continues, "passed beyond that stage when the Washington government adopted the plan I cabled three weeks ago, There has been no official contradiction of that plan. There could be none, because it was this government's plan."

The dispatch proceeds to record the deep impression which the manifestos of Senor Canovas del Castillo, the Spanish Premier, have made upon the American public. The result will be, the dispatch says, that the matter of recognition of the belligerency of the Cubans will be left to the President and the executive to decide.

cusses editorially the British side of the Venezuela matter this morning:

"The Blue Book must convince all approaching the subject with an open mind, that Mr. Bayard's description (while he was Secretary of State) of our difference with Venezuela, in his dispatch to Mr. Phelps, United States Minister to England, on December 30, 1886, was, and is, a true description, namely, that he had no idea that political or territorial expansions of authority on the American continent could influence the British government in relation to Venezuela."

The editorial then admitting the Venezuelan side of the case has yet to be heard, deals at great length with the arguments already adduced by the Venezuelan government, and arrives at the conclusion that, unless the latter has more solid facts and arguments to bring forward, it will find it hard to damage the British case in the eyes of the unprejudiced.

Cooper Union was the scene where the first gun was fired, the echo of which thrilled the hearts of 5000 loyal soldiers, who, since the of 5000 loyal soldiers, who, since the commencement of the international strife which has sundered Bailington Booth's allegiance to his father, Gen. The Boersen Courier, on the contrary, contends that Italy's position would not be weakened if she withdrew from the African venture.

The Vorwaerts leads the Democratic section of the press with a ferocious attack upon Italy and Signor Crispi, dubing the latter the hero of the Ranco Romano scandal and the sleuthhound of Italy, who lacks the courage to face Parliament. These papers naturally welcome the collapse of the Dreibund, but in the face of Italy's difficulties at home and abroad, and the doubtful attitude of Russia toward Italy, it is not easy to predict the outcome of Count Goluchowski's conference here. There are even rumors now that King Humbert will abdicate in favor of his son. The fear of England's attitude since Shortly after 7 o'clock, and before the itself. Their presence on the platform was the signal for an outburst of enthusiasm such as never before has been witnessed in Cooper Union.

There was some music and singing and the customary religious invocations, after which Ballington Booth rose and said:

"Mrs. Booth and myself have not come here tonight to allude to the recent sad trouble. It is quite true, we have, after mature deliberation, decided to inaugurate a new movement. Could we have avoided it, it would most assuredly have been done on our part; but recognizing that the great American people believed that we have done a work for nine years, for which they were gratified and would not retire into private life.

"Recognizing, as we do, the largest field in the world and still furtheres."

they were gratified and would not listen to the protest, we would not retire into private life.

"Recognizing, as we do, the largest field in the world and still further recognizing that there was room in America for one, two, aye 100 Salvation Armies, we have resolved, to the best of our ability, to win over the middle classes of the artisan community of this country. We wish no strife with the Salvation Army, no strife either literal or verbal. I believe that the future of the so-called religious organizations of the present day is that they do not come down to the living places where Jesus Christ wants to be represented.

"I want to assure Mrs. Booth and those officers who have stood by me that I see in the distance a movement which tonight has received its impetus in this great gathering. I do not want anything that exists in the air, but a genuine consecration of our soldiers to the faith of Christ. There is at least 46 per cent. of the wage-earning populace of the community who are not identified with any church or place of religious worship. It is there we want to reach and extend to them the love that inspired the Nazarene on the streets of Jerusalem, nearly nineteen hundredyears ago.

"Oh, how much hate-ology and how little heart-ology there is today! Mrs. Booth and myself have, within the last few days, been reading the history of that great American soldier, George Washington, whose portrait stands on this platform tonight. We thought of him and his goodness of heart and love for Christ as he turned away for a moment from the frightful scenes of Valley Forge, and repaired to the woods where he knelt in prayer to the God of his country. Whatever be the mission we undertake it will bear the right direction."

NEW YORK, March 8.—The World tomorrow will publish the following copyrighted dispatch from Infanta Eu-lalia of Spain: "Sweet remembrances of the affec-"Sweet remembrances of the affectionate reception given to me by the people of the United States when I went to their country, representing my own at the festivities in honor of Columbus, live and ever will live in my heart. During those festivities strong proofs of mutual esteem were given by both countries. I became convinced, and am still pursuaded that never, never should that traditional friendship be broken, much less should peace be disturbed. Being apart from affairs of state I can only pray God fervently that cordial relations between the two countries may never cease.

The Spanish Premier informed the correspondent before the visit that the Infanta was, to quote her own words, "delighted to have an opportunity to show that I cherish pleasant recollections of my visit to the United States."

At the appointed hour the World correspondent was received by Her Royal Highness in a beautiful gallery filled with rare plants, and antique furniture. Her message was written on court note paper in English, and in her own handwriting, and, in giving it to the correspondent, she remarked: "You need not apolesize for troubling me, as I am giad to find this opportunity to show how much, I appreciate America."

The Infanta then spoke in the most enthusiastic terms of the people of the United States, and of her visit to the World's Fair. As the Correspondent was leaving Her Royal Highness said: "Look yonder on the wall," pointing to a photograph hanging there. "That is one of Mrs. Cleveland, who is so lovely and kind."

DEFEATED THE INSURGENTS. DEFEATED THE INSURGENTS.
HAVANA, March 8.—An important engagement is officially reported to have taken place in the central portion of Matanzas province. Col. Vicuna reports that he met a force of insurgents numbering 7000 and led by Maximo Gomez, Antonio Maceo, La Crete and others at the plantation of Diana and Atabars, in the district of Corral Falso. They were dislodged from their position by the troops and made a precipitate flight toward San Miguel de Los Banos.

Banos.

The insurgent loss is reported to be seventy killed and forty-two wounded left on the field, as well as numerous others carried off. The insurgents also lost 200 horses. The loss of the troops was three killed and nineteen wounded. Gen Pando also sends in a report that Maximo Gomez-passed by Votadres in the Cientusco district.

AN INSURGENT EMISSARY. AN INSURGENT EMISSARY.

TAMPA (Fia.,) March 8.—Among the passengers arriving from Cuba tonight was an insurgent emissary with important dispatches from Antonio Maceo to, the junta in New York. This gentleman gives some interesting facts about the progress of the revolution and of plans which Gen. Gomez intends putting into effect. Maceo, he reports, is now at Cano, five miles from Havana, with 8000 men. At Cano the guards had a skirmish Friday morning. The peoskirmish Friday morning. The peo-e of Havana are alarmed, but Gen Weyler, the agent says, does nothing to disperse the enemy who are occupying strong positions all over the island awaiting Gen. Weyler's promised at-

Among other things mentioned in Maceo's report is that from January 15 to February 20 he captured from the Spaniards 2800 Mauser and Remington to February 20 he captured from the Spaniards 2800 Mauser and Remington rifles, besides other arms and ammunition by intercepting convoy trains and the capture of small forts. Several field pieces were also taken. Maceo has now 6000 well-armed men and 2000 miscellaneously equipped. His losses at Paso Redl, Caldenaria and Alquizar were 200 men and forty officers. These are all the losses mentioned. Since Mwyler's proclamation, fully eight thousand men have joined the insurgents in Puerto Princips.

Gen. Maceo, the agent says, will return there to raise an army of 25.000 that he may, by April, in conjunction with Gomez and others, consolidate an army of 40.000 men near Havana and be prepared for an aggressive campaign. The insurgents say that if the United States recognizes them they will win within a year; if not they will win within a year; if not they will win mately win; but the end will be delayed.

ELECTRIC-CAR SMASH-UP.

A TERRIFIC COLLISION ON THE KIRKWOOD MO., LINE.

Failed to Observe the Rule About Keeping Sidings—A Large Num-ber of Passengers Injured.

ST. LOUIS (Mo.,) March 8 .- As the result of disobedience of orders by J. A. Aitken, motorman, a terrible headend collision occurred this evening about 3 o'clock between cars of the newly-completed Kirkwood Electric were badly smashed, four men probably fatally injured, twenty-nine padly hurt and between twenty and thirty others less seriously injured. The fatally injured are:

were taking advantage of its being Sunday to patronize the line. Every car was crowded. The line is a single track system, with switches at intervals to be used for the passage of the cars. It was the disobedience of a rule providing that a car going in a certain direction should keep a siding until the next car in the other direction. And passed, that caused the accident.

An east-bound car with J. S. Pearrely as conductor and J. A. Aitken as motorman, stopped at a siding about one mile this side of Kirkwood. The west-bound car not appearing, the car men decided to try and make the town is a flying trip. They had almost reached the end of their journey, when the other car came around a curve and both crashed together. The east-bound car was running at the rate of at least thirty-five miles an hour. The passengers were thrown in a pile by the contact, which was terrible.

The front ends of the cars were completely demolished, each seat torn from its fastenings and all the windows smashed. A number of passengers were thrown through the windows, and those on the front platforms were crushed together and hurled to the ground. The west-bound car was driven back 100 yards down the track, but, strange to say, neither car left the track. Had they done so there would have been a number of deaths, as the embankment as thirty feel high at this point, and the cars met on a culvert over a ravine.

J. A. Aikken, motorman of the east-bound car, and Sam Smith, motorman of the west-bound car, were taken gur of the week with many bones broken and injured internally. It is thought they will die. Among the passengers the most badly injured were J. L. Jones and Richard Lonagan. Neither can live, it is thought. They were all residents of 8t. Louis. Twenty-him passengers were taken out, some with limbs broken and bodies bruised, but it is thought that no one will die as the result of the injuries received. Between tweety and thirty others received less serious injuries. Help was sent from Kirkwood, Webster Grove and St. Louis, and t

the question will be prolonged beyond Monday, and there is little doubt that the House resolutions will be agreed to.
The Dupont Delaware election case will also continue to receive attention during the week. Senator Turple will speak on Monday in favor of the seat-ing of Mr. Dupont, and will be fol-lowed when opportunity affords, by speak on Monday in favor of the seating of Mr. Dupont, and will be followed when opportunity affords, by eliber Senator Pritchard or Senator Chandler for Dupont. It is not believed that the debate on this question will be concluded during the present week. The bill to, prevent the extermination of the Alaskan seals has been made the special order for Thursday next, but whether it will be taken up at that time will probably depend upon whether an amicable arrangement can be made concerning the Dupont case. There is no disposition on the part of the managers of the Seal Bill to prevent continued consideration of the Dupont matter. The Seal Bill will provoke discussion when reached. It is understood to be Senator Morgan's purpose to discuss it at length.

Senator Butler has given notice of a speech on Wednesday on his bill to prohibit the further issuance of government bonds. If the Committee on Public Lands gets in its report on the Arizona Land Bill, recommending its passage over the President's veto, it may be taken up, and it will probably arouse considerable discussion.

The House this week will continue work on appropriation bills, and dispose of one, possibly two, of the pending contested election cases. The Postoffice Appropriation Bill will, it is thought, be passed tomorrow. The Naval Appropriation Bill is the next supply bill in order. During the week the Aldrich-Robbins case from the Fourth Alabama District, the report of which is against the Democratic contestor, will be called up, and if time is offered the report of the committee in the Benoit-Boatner case from the Fifth Louisiana, declaring the seat occupied by Mr. Boatner vacant, will also be acted upon.

The family were just arising when the landsilde occurred, and no warning was given the inmates of the house. McDonald, who is a foreman of Southern Pacific bridge carpenters, has been sick for several weeks with the typhoid fever, and Campbell went to the house last night to sit up and render the family assistance. McDonald and his wife were sleeping in the parior during his sickness, while the others were in the sleeping-rooms. The first intimation of the disaster was a terrible roar, but before any of the inmates realized what was happening, the avalanche was upon them.

The house, excepting the parlor, was completely burled by the huge mass of mud and rocks. Campbell and Isabel McDonald were completely burled by the debris, and their lives crushed out. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald were found in the parlor, covered with debris, while the younger daughter was lying on a lounge, pinned down by a mass of timber and rocks. If the captain would only bring them somewhere close to land they would jump from the boat and make the rest of the way. As the only boats the customhouse officers in this district have are a rowboat and a small sailboat, there is little chance for following suspected craft. If a good revenue cutter be provided, it is believed the business of smuggling Chinamen by way of San Clemente, if it be going on as claimed, will be affectually broken up. When the officers of the law have a cutter which is liable to appear suddenly and unexpectedly at any locality about the islands, the smuggling business will probably be too hazardous to be prosecuted about here.

express the condition of this country was to simply say that we had no neavy.

Now it is very different. Our new navy is not completed so far as ships already under contract are concerned, and there is a most excellent prospect for the addition of six more by the present Congress. The United States now ranks fourth among the great powers; when the ships already contracted for are finished, it will rank third, and the prospects are that in five years it will rank second.

In one important point it ranks first. The ships are practically all new, and of latest improved designs. There is another feature that makes the United States navy the greatest fighting power on the seas. England, France and Germany have more ships of every class, but each of those nations is compelled to keep fleets in various waters to protect distant possessions. England owns dependencies in every quarter of the globe, and it is necessary that her fleet be distributed throughout the world. The only detached land the United States has to care for is Alaska, and there no fleet is necessary to keep that territory in subjection.

Since England's experiences on the great lakes with American seamen, who occupied vessels that looked more like pleasure boats than men-of-war, and the way we floated our tubs into the Mediterranean and brought Tripoli to sudden terms, the nations of earth have had a respect for our navy totally out of proportion to the character of the ships.

And now we have a navy—a fact that has come so quickly that the people

It describes the dispute among the group of Boers over the color of the English flag. There was great ignorance and much difference of opinion on the subject until an old patriarch, clad in blue shirt and soiled yellow moleskin trousers, arose. His rifle was slung over his right arm, his beard was long and white, his face was yellow with seventy years' exhis beard was long and white, his face was yellow with seventy years' exposure to the sun, and his eyes, once keen, were dull. Anthony passed through here today on her way to California to advocate the cause of woman suffrage. She said she has hopes that the women of California will profit by the experience of the women of Kansas in 1894 and keep party politics out of their campaign.

In their work among the Democrats the women expect to have the active support of Gov. Budd, who is an advocate of woman suffrage. It is not expected that any political party will put out a declaration of principles until after the national convention shall have been held and therefore the women will have ample time for a compaign of education. It is proposed to circulate petitions, asking the party conventions to indorse woman suffrage, and Miss Anthony believes that the names of 200,000 or 300,000 men and women of the State can be secured. Fully half of these will be the names of men, and as the total vote of the State is only about a quarter of a million the politicians will hardly ignore a petition signed by one-half of the entire voting population.

The Way the Golden Charlot Was Developed.

The owners of the Golden Charlot mine near Perris, just south of the Santa Rosa, have just installed a steam hoisting plant which is the equal of anything in Riverside county. The way in which the Golden Charlot was dug is interesting. The locators hunted for surface indications of the extension of the Santa Rosa veln, reasoned out to their own satisfaction where it ran, and then dug a shaft, not on the vein, but so as to strike it at a depth of 300 feet. The plan succeeded, and the Golden Charlot is a valuable property. The St. Louis company which owns the Menifee mine in Riverside county has reopened the mine, which had shut down for a while and gotten full of water.

W. A. Clark of Butte, Mont., principal owner of the United Verde Copper Company, whose copper mines are located at Jerome, Ariz., is now on a visit to Paris to complete a deal whereby a Paris syndicate will soon own the mines and the properties of the United Verde Copper Company. Mr. Clark has recently, on the part of the company, refused $50,000,000 for this property. This same Paris syndicate has recently bought secretly the big copper mines in Montana controlled by James B. Haggin of San Francisco and Marcus Daly of Anaconda. The price paid was $125,000,000 United States gold coin.

William Maher, formerly of the Santa Rosa mine, one of the best-known miners in the southwest, has left Perris for the desert and taken a position under Superintendent Steele in the desert Queen mine.

He believes it can be milled for less than $20 a Ton, so this would leave a very liberal profit—over $300 a ton.

The Fortuna gold mine, thirty miles east of Yuma, has been attracting favorable attention lately. When a mere prospect it sold for $150.000 and is now valued far above that figure. A pipe line is being built from wells sixteen miles away, which will furnish an ample supply of water for the camp and for a big forty-stamp mill, which is nearly completed. CHICAGO, March 8.—Carefully concealed in a barrel and covered with a mass of old rags and cotton the dead bodies of a gray-haired man and a new-born babe were found in an alley in Hyde Park today. In consequence the police are working on what they consider a double murder. Only one clew is in their nossession, and on the consider a double murder. Only one clew is in their possession, and on the discovery of the identity of a woman, as yet unknown to the police, depends the possible solution of the mystery. Early this forenoon the office of Raiston's Hyde Park morgue was rung up on the telephone and a woman, who declined to give either her name or address, asked if the body of a man had been found in Hyde Park. The office attendant replied in the negative, and then questioned the woman, but his attendant replied in the negative, and then questioned the woman, but his efforts failed to get any information of a decided character, although she told the cierk she was looking for a man who was missing. She was finally prevailed upon to give his description, which she did in minute detail. She astonished the morgue attendant by saying that he would certainly learn about the case later.

Four hours later the barrel with its ghastly contents was discovered in the rear of the house at No. 4829 Indiana avenue. The body of the man tailled in almost every respect with the description furnished by the mysterious woman over the telephone. The police unhesitatingly connected her with the case. In the barrel was also the body of a boy not over three days old.

J. A. Nourse, residing in Prairie avenue, while emptying a pan of ashes in the alley, discovered a barrel which aroused his curiosity. Breaking open the head of the barrel he was horrified in seeing the naked body of an old man inside. It was entirely nude and was frightfully mutilated. Covering the corpse was a thick layer of cotton. frightfully mutilated. Covering the corpse was a thick layer of cotton. The police were at once notified, and the barrel was removed to the morgue. The head and trunk gave every evidence of foul play, the skull showing several deep wounds. There was nothing else to give any clew to the man's identity. After the body had been lifted from the barrel the body of the baby was found. It was nude save for a thin fiannel shirt, and there were two marks on the side of the head, apparently made with a blunt instrument. The body of the elder male was that of a man betwen 65 and 70 years old.

The police laugh at the theory that it was the work of medical students, and are positive in their statements that the man and child were murdered.

GY THEGRAPH TO THE TIMES!

LONDON, March 8.—(Special Dispatch.) An important archaeological discovery was made a few days ago at Worms by Dr. Koehl. It is a burtal ground of the later stone age. About seventy graves have been examined, and the number of vessels found, most of them tastefully ornamented, exceeds one hundred. Not the silightest trace of metal has been discovered. Armrings of blue and gray slate were found in the graves of the women. Three armrings made of slate were removed from the upper arm of one skeleton, four from another, and six from the lower arm of a third. In a man's grays there was, on the neck of the skeleton, a small conically polished ornament of syenite, not perforated, but provided with the groove for a string. Other ornaments consist of pearls and mussel shells made in the form of trinkets, perforated boar's tusks, and small fossil mussels. These ornaments were worn by men and women alike. Ruddle and ochre fragments, which were used in tattooing and coloring the skin, were also frequent.

In hardly a single case was missing from the women's grave a primitive corn mill, consisting of two stones.

In hardly a single case was missing from the women's grave a primitive corn mill, consisting of two stones, a grinding stone and a grain crusher. The men's graves contain weapons and implements, all of stone, with whetstones and hones for sharpening purposes. They consist of perforated hammers, sharpened hatchets, axes, and chisels, as well as knives and scrapers of fiint. That there was no want of food, is shown by the many vessels, often six of eight in one grave, and the remains of food found near them, the latter being the bones of various animals. Several photographs have been taken of skeletons as they lie in the graves, their appearance being perfect after a repose of thousands of years.

(St. Joseph Herald;) There is no business so intimately connected with the prosperity of a city or community as its established newspaper. Its success or failure is the thermometer of the locality in which it is published. The failure of a national bank or any great mercantile institution is looked upon by the public as the result of local or personal conditions; that of a newspaper that has secured recognition as the mouthplece of public sentiment of a city or the pronounced organ of a party is known throughout the country as the result of declining enterprise and push of the locality it represents. The advertising columns of a newspaper are an index of the growth of business and prosperity, and they indicate that a city is reaching out or is curbing. The decline of advertising indicates retrogression, the expansion of advertisement announces progress. The snap and ving shown in telling the world what you have to sell is positive indication that you believe that you can sell and have advantages the public will accept is they know them. A show window is good for the "passing crowd," but an advertisement in a newspaper is for the world. Newspapers, therefore, have both a personal and public bearing. The public also has its responsibility to give it a fair return and support. The newspaper in more than one way is the representative of the public.

people as being in poor taste. The true artist in story-teiling will, it is argued, look as solemn as an owl when everybody else is roaring at the joke. That was the way with the late Bill Nye. Bir Mr. Depew likes to enjoy his own jokes with those that hear them. He is not the only good story teller that does the same thing. Few people can tell a story better than little Marshall P. Wilder, but he always laughs at the end the same as his listeners, and he defends the practice as proper and in good taste.

The indoor bleycle tournament in San Francisco is a success. More than 5000 people are reported to have attended the first night of the races, and the interest in the affair has not decreased.

The eight-lap track is a novelty, and has received much favorable comment from racing experts, who have made a study of bleycle racetracks and their possibilities. This indoor track in San Francisco is compared to the small tracks in France, where sensational racing is common. It is claimed that the track of the future will be of this character, as compatition on it is apt to be of the spectacular brand, and as a result interesting to the spectators, who, by their attendance, make cycle racing possible and profitable.

This is rather illustrated, if not proven, by the racing at the pavilion in San Francisco. In size and shape the track is pronounced to be entirely at variance with any one to which the men have been accustomed, yet in the face of these drawbacks they have "mastered its difficulties and dash around its steeply-banked ends without fear." In commenting upon the tournament a cycling writer of San Francisco says: "The racing is exciting at all times, and the element of danger is added when a crowd of men dash at a corner, not one of them yielding an inch of vantage without a hard struggle. The spectators are so close to the riders, and the latter pass them so often, that they retain interest in the race all the way through. The present meet has proved so successful, both from the spectator's point of view and also that of the racing man, that meets at regular intervals will undoubtedly result."

The pool tournament which has been in progress for a week or more at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, is drawing to a close, and the interest in the affair is naturally becoming greater, as the end draws near. TRIP OF THE TRAMPERS.

The Trampers' Annex of the Los Ameles Athletic Club, to the number of seventeen, took a very pleasant trip in the wilds of Millard's Cañon yesterday, and enjoyed the novel sensation of a snowball fight in California. The trip was one of more than ordinary interest to a number of the party, as it was the first time they had ever come in contact with "the beautiful."

The Trampers took the $1.0 a.m. Terminal for Los Casitas, from which place they walked to the head of the cafion, a distance of about six miles. At this place there is an old, abandoned prospector's cabin, which at the present time, is half buried in snow. A portion of the crowd, headed by the

LIVELY "MILL" IN PROSPECT.

Martin Murphy, the well-known sporting man, and backer of "good ones," who dispenses liquid cheer at the Orpheum bar, is to act as second for Alick Greggans in his fight with Tom Sharkay, before the National Club in San Francisco next Thursday evening.

The match is expected to be a "corker," lasting eight rounds, with the decision on the eighth. Both men have good records as heavy-weights, Sharkay having been champion in the United States navy, when he was a member of that branch of the service. Alick Greggans has during his pugilistic career bested "Australian" Smith, "Australian" McCarthy, and fought an eighty-round draw with Costello in New York City.

Mr. Murphy has been with Greggans as his second in five matches, of which his man won three. He is not overconfident that Sharkay will be "easy" for his protége, but believes Greggans to be the cleverer man of the two. Mr. Murphy will leave tomorrow evening for San Francisco.

Odds Now Offered on the Brooklys and Suburban Handicaps.

and Suburban Handicaps.

Already books are open on the Brooklyn and Suburban handicaps, two of the most popular turf events of the year. In each event there are numerous good horses entered, and many of them are being heavily backed. The prices offered against some of the horses are very low. considering the time of year. For the Brooklyn, only 5 to 1 is offered against the top weight, Henry of Navarre and the same against Clifford. The same price obtains in the Suburban; in fact, there is no difference between the quotations for the two races. The figure offered for Navarre makes him out to be a wonder in the estimation of some people, as there eare a lot of really good race horses in the races with considerably less weight than he is to carry. Lazzarone, with 119 pounds, is quoted at the low figure of 8 to 1, and Ben Brush. Handspring, Keenan and Halma are each quoted at 10 to 1, and Nanki Pooh, from the same stable as Lazzarone, is quoted at 12 to 1. These are all poor prices for bettors at this time of year, but they go to show that some people have lots of faith in the horses named.

Already there has been a large amount of money invested on what are now termed the favorites, and the indications are that there will be some very brisk speculation on the races long before the days of the events arrive.

WILL COMPETE AT ATHENS.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons Still Making Faces at Each Other.

The all-important question as to which of the country's heavy-weight pugilists is entitled to the championship title and beit, promises to remain an unsettled problem for as much as some time.

There is a dim prospect that Corbett, Fitzsimmons and that English sporting club may arrive at an agreement in the near future and decide upon terms and a date for a match between these worthies, but the attitude and antics of these same pugilists lends color to the bellef that neither man is wildly anxious to enter a roped ring, with the other in a corner, diagonally opposite. Corbett's demands of the English people were so unreasonable that they almost swamped the soheme of a match at the start, though James J has somewhat taken in his horns, the situation has not been greatly improved thereby.

"Bob" the "Lanky" is having a very fair sort of time, as pugilists' times go, gallivanting about the country, and the ex-Australian seems to be worried not at all by Corbett's bluff and bluster, expressed in his repeated challenges to Fitzsimmons.

Regarding the question as to who is the sure-enough champion of the country and speaking of Corbett's challenges, the New York Clipper says:

"Under ordinary circumstances, according to the conditions governing all championship matches, every holder of the title is compelled to accept any proper challenge (providing it is supported with a suitable money deposit) to contend for the championship within a certain time from the date of issuance of the challenge. To this rule Fitzsimmons is no exception; but he is justified in ignoring a challenge which contains the stipulations which appear in the latest emanation from the former champion, who, despite his formally and repeatedly announced relinquishment of the title and retirement from the prize-ring, has the hardihood to sign his alleged challenge Champion of the World," a position to which he has no claim, and it is extremely doubtful if he ever will have again in case he ha Boston Athletes to Participate 1 the Olympian Games in May.

the Olympian Games in May.

The Boston Athletic Association has voted to send a team to compete in the coming Olympic games at Athens, Greece, in May. The men selected to represent Boston and probably all America, as no similar action has yet been taken by any athletic organization in America, will consist of Tom Burke, Arthur Blake, E. H. Clarke or F. W. Lord and Tommy Curtis.

The Boston team will be entered in the long and short-distance running events, the broad and high jumps and putting the shot. Blake will enter the twenty-mile run between the cities of Athens and Marathon. Tom Burke is the present 440-yards world's champion, and is considered the best athlete on the team. E. H. Clarke of Harvard, an all-round athlete, will enter the high, the broad jump, throwing the hammer and putting the shot. Arthur Blake will enter the mile, the mile and a half and other running races. F. W. Lord's specialty is the hurdles. T. P. Curtis has done remarkably well in the hurdles and the short distances.

The team is expected to leave for Europe March 24. The first day of the Olympic games is May 5. The expenses of the trip will be borne by the Boston Athletic Association, the money to be raised by subscription.

sale of Direct furnished the sole these days? Here is a problem liable to stir up the fistic gentry to hot debate, with a likely tendency to gather momentum for some time to come. He is doomed to plenty of opposition, however, in this view, and I shouldn't wonder if he comes out of the small end of the horn in the argument. still faster heats, and but for carrying of 2.15%, was second several times in still faster heats, and but for carrying twenty-six ounces he would have been one of the leading trotting stallions of the day.

The weight shattered his tendons and he took to pacing for comfort's sake. His sire, Director, was the people's idol in 1833, winning the Charter Oak $10.000 2:20 stake, Providence $5000 stake. Batch's $10,000 stallion stake, a $5000 stake at Mystic Park, Boston, and several good races elsewhere. Johnny Goldsmith used to drive him the opening heat, as a rule, in a hood, then after thawing out step to the front. No gamer horse ever stood than Director, and the family, except Director's Flower, have inherited his do-ordie disposition. The year Hal Pointer and Direct went down the line in specials killed them both. These were wire-to-wire races always. Direct would lay down after a heat and it required strong argument to get him up, but once-on his feet and in the bike, he would fight! to the bitter end. "To commence at the first part, it is held, and has been held some time, that a championship crown represents something which can neither be received nor bestowed, except under certain very narrow conditions, that something being a sentimental recognition living only through the voice of the majority. For a holder of superior physique to say who shall step into his shoes, without proper proof of capacity, would be as foolish as for a very wise man to set on some one at random to be a wise man in his place. Along this line Peter Maher had little or no right to the American heavyweight championship, the quick defeats of the Coffee Cooler, Godfrey and O'Donnell, added to the public gift from Corbett, not being of sufficient weight, though these things were plenty strong to make him a very conspicuous aspirant. After receiving the empty gift from Corbett, Maher himself, after due deliberation, looked at it this way. He held himself only as a worthy aspirant, as he told me when in Chicago shortly before completting arrangements for the Fitzsimmons match. He judged himself to be in a right position only to try to fight up to the top, which was very proper and honest in him. If he had won with Fitzit was his intention to challenge Corbett, and, if he had defaulted, to claim then the heavyweight championship, which also would have been proper, and have entitled him to the real honors. As it turned out Fitz won, but he has not followed along the line Peter had intended doing, as he acknowledged before going to battle, but is skipping about in high giee and dodging the very man Jim Corbett) that he claimed wanted to dodge him. It may be held by the admirters of Fitz that, having had to do so much training of late, he should be given a year in which to rest up and see what he can rake in by traveling through the country; that would be all right, as by example of Corbett and others, but, if he meant business uitimately, he could tnot be too quick in getting his money up to cover Jim's forfeit, after which he could travel a

"getting off" horses in a race, and may eventually drive the professional starter from the business.

In San Francisco at the Ingleside racetrack the gate has been in continuous use for months, after its importation from Australia, and nothing but commendation for the, results it works have been thus far heard.

The Breeder and Sportsman says: "The Australian starting gate is now a permanent fixture at Bay District, and will also be at Ingleside. The machines have been erected at every starting post, and the stretching of the webbing is the only thing necessary to dispatch a field for any given distance. Two gates have also been put up on the inside course. The starts are all completely satisfactory. If there has been all that could be desired, the fault has been all that could be desired, the fault has been with the horse or jockey. The machine works like a charm, and gives every horse an equal chance. If horsemen do not train their horses, or jockeys are not alert, they will get left. The starts are all prompt, and even the very worst that have been made with the machine would be rated good under the old method. With the use of the flag a perfect start was rarely seen. That is what we expect every time how, and all starts are measured by that standard.

"The starting gate is absorbing as much attention among imitators in the

W. W. Naughton, an authority on matters connected with the turf, thinks that among the evils that the gate will surely do away with may be mentioned flag-beating jockeys. It will also probably serve to bring about more enduring feelings of friendship between the starters on rival tracks, for with properly-schooled cattle to handle the opportunities of lauding one man's work to the detriment of another's will be minimized. It will also act as a damper on the falsifying proclivities of the festive form-sheet compiler, although it may lessen the revenue he will receive frem valinglorious flagbrandishers who like to have their every effort recorded as a "perfect start." It will certainly do away with that feeling of fiervousness and suspense which every, watcher experiences after the horses have been half an hour at the post, and it will compel growling owners whose horses are slow in getting away to vent their wrath on the boy or the nag, instead of the starter.

There is reasonably good information that the tracks in the East will adopt the new starting machine imported from Australia, which has been such a success on the Pacific Coast tracks. It is said that an offer of $15,000 for Joe Patchen had been refused by Col. Taylor, his owner. Inasmuch as Patchen won $17,000 last season, and ought to win nearly, if not quite, as much this, the offer is not extravagant. The horse is sound—the soundest pacer in training, according to the vets—and is one of the greatest of campaigners, being able to race month in and month out. A few years ago $15,000 for a pacer would have been a big price, even when the trotting-horse market was booming.

MAKING CONCRETE BRICKS OUT OF

The Prescribing of Speciacles-The • Stoker's Guide—An Anti-seasick Platform—Driving Bacilli Out of Milk - Asbestos for Surgical

NEW YORK, March 4. - Dr. W. F. Southard has instituted a muchneeded inquiry into the apparently subordinate, but really most im-portant, question, who shall prescribe spectacles? Many physicians and most laymen regard the act of fitting glasses to a person's eyes as purely mechanical. no very high degree of scientific knowlno very high degree of scientific knowledge is required. They have been so frequently told that the optician can fit glasses as well as, if not better than, the oculist, that the statement has come to be almost universally accepted as true. Hence the majority of those who need glasses seek relief from the ontician rather than from the coulist. optician rather than from the oculist Dr. Southard holds that this is a vital mistake. He denounces the empirical mistake. He denounces the empirical plan of testing the eyesight by seating a person before a printed chart and, by placing one glass after another before his eyes, attempting to determine the proper one for him to wear. The process is purely subjective, and although within a very few years this system was usually employed, even by oculists, one more illogical unphysiological and unscientific cannot well be imagined. By this subjective or chart logical and unscientific cannot well be imagined. By this subjective or chart test and triallenses little is learned, and that not positively. The visual acuteness under the conditions then present is indicated. This, though of considerable value, is not trustworthy, since the acuteness may be produced under a strain which may not only neutralize but frequently over-corrects, the real a strain which may not only neutralize but frequently over-corrects the real defect. Dr. Southard's technical description of the objective methods by which the greatest precision in determining errors of refraction can be secured, includes the use of Javal's keratometer, opthalmoscopy and skiascopy. The main part of Dr. Southard's contention is that the oculist is the proper person to examine and measure the eyes for glasses. From natural causes and from excessive work thrown upon the eyes at an early period of life, probably 90 per cent. of all eye troubles are primarily due to optical defects. Therefore, before glasses are ordered, several primarily due to optical defects. Therefore, before glasses are ordered, several important points should be considered, such as age, occupation, heredity, state of health, muscular balance. The eyes of children should be examined in their fifth year, as the sooner the earlier defects of the eyes are discovered and corrected, the better. Every child suffering from any form of neurosis should be subjected to a careful eye inspection. In dealing with adults, the hablits, ocupation, mode of life, laboring hours and general state of health of the patient, as well as the condition of the eyes at the time of examination and for patient, as well as the condition of the eyes at the time of examination and for some months previous, must all be taken into consideration. The eyes are not a little influenced by the condition of the different &gans of the body, such as derangement of the stomach, liver, kidneys, heart and nose. While suffering from illness, many women continue to read, frequently lying on their backs, a most unnatural and unphysiological position. Many persons laboring under some nervous affection read while riding on the cars or other moving vehicles, and the strongest eyes will in time give way under such abuse. Men, especially those living in city suburbs, are the greatest sinners in this respect. A very large percentage of the cases of neuroses dealt with by oculists are owing simply to eye strain from reading on the train from one to three hours daily.

ECONOMETER; THE STOKER'S GUIDE. The experienced fireman, while dis-playing great skill in the distribution of fuel in a steam furnace, is often playing great skill in the distribution of fuel in a steam furnace, is often baffled by the unsatisfactory results of his firing and puzzled to know their cause. An instrument, termed the econometer, has been designed to show exactly what the fuel is doing, so that its greatest efficiency is no longer dependent on the mere expertness of the stoker. The instrument is based on the principle of the fire-damp indicator, and its duty is to measure and record the specific gravity of any gas supplied to it. A scale beam carries at its two ends a pair of glass vessels, one containing air, and the other fitted with an arrangement of inlet and exit pipes for the reception of the gases to be tested. The gas bottle is free to rise and fall, and according to the specific gravity of the gas flowing through it at any moment, an index pointer is moved on a scale, and shows the percentage of carbonic acid present in the flue gases then flowing through the instrument, the superior specific gravity of carbonic acid gas, about 50 per cent. greater than air, causing the bottle through which it passes to pull down that end of the beam. As the amount of this gas that should be present in theoretically perfect smoke is known, any deviation will usually be in the direction of a smaller amount, or rather of an unduly large amount of air. The action is thus extremely simple and the instrument would be of great vafue, as it is usually owing almost entirely to such poor use. This instrument provides a tell-tale, which shows in a few seconds what is being manufactured in the furnace, and with it before him the fireman can quickly see the effect of a thin fire, a too large grate, a fire burned into holes, and other phenomena of combustion which usually are allowed to pass unremedied, and which mean so many dollars out of the pocket of the man who pays the fuel bill.

AN ANTI-SEASICK PLATFORM.

Many years ago, Mr. Bessemer,

Many years ago, Mr. Bessemer, whose name is known throughout the whose name is known throughout the world in connection with steel manufacture, designed a saloon for a passenger boat, in which, he claimed, seasickness would be impossible. The saloon was simply hung on supports, which enabled it to maintain its level while the boat itself was rising and falling with the motions of the waves. The trial trip was fairly successful, many people who ordinarily would be prostrated with seasickness under such conditions, passing the ordeal of a rough channel passage with but little discomfort; but shipbuilders distrusted the idea, and for a while it dropped out of notice. It was presently revived in an apparatus designed to give absolutely perfect steadiness to searchlights and machine-guns on a small, quickly-rolling and pitching vessel in a very rough sea. This appliance has been fitted to many vessels in the British and other navies for mounting searchlight projectors. A searchlight projector throws a narrow ray of light, only about a degree wide, and in order that it may be of use in detecting the approach of torpedo boats or other objects at night, it must be held so steady as to have no angular motion in a vertical plane comparable with the angle subtended by the ray of light, or it is impossible to keep the object in the field of illumination. The steadying platform meets this difficuity, and can also be used for the mounting of the smaller class of quickfiring guns, such as three and sixpounders. For the larger guns, an automatic firing apparatus has been contrived so as to fire the gun electrically at the instant in the roll when the ship's deek becomes horizontal. The curious deek becomes horizontal. The curious deek becomes horizontal is for the union in a special form, has been placed on board yachts, and persons seated thereon remained so steady that all fear of seasickness passed away, it is suggested that English Channel steamers shall be fitted up with seats of this kind, as many people would be glad to pay a high price for them on a rough, day. DRIVING BACILLI OUT O world in connection with ste facture, designed a saloon f DRIVING BACILLI OUT OF MILK. The New York Board of Health has been using a small machine worked on the centrifugal principle as a method of determining the amount of fat in the centrifugal principle as a method of determining the amount of fat in samples of milk. The machine simply whiris the milk around at a high velocity, throwing the lighter, or the cream, to the center, and the milk clear of cream, or fat, to the outside. By a simple scale the amount of fat to the whole quantity of milk can be ascertained. Large machines of the same principle, are used in big dairies, and these, it is believed by the medical experts of the board, can be used as a means of ridding milk of impurities, and possibly of bacilli. Dr. Martin says he has found that after a thousand quarts of milk had been strained through the finest strainer, and then passed through the finest muslin, there was still a considerable quantity of dirt in it. If this milk were put in the centrifugal machine, out of a thousand quarts a double handful of filth of the barnyard would be shaken out. The process seems to make the milk more digestible, partially sterilizes it and enables it to keep several days longer than the milk which has not been so treated. At one time the farmer was wont to keep some of the scum found on the outer edge—after the creamskimming process—to feed to his hogs. It gave so many of them tuberculosis and killed them that he gave it up. This encourages the assumption that centrifugal straining runs out bacilli as well as dirt. The benefit of this process to the public compulsory by law, but until it is made compulsory by law, but until it is made compulsory by law, but the price of milk, and the farmer would not think he was pald for his extra trouble. Besides, the consumer knows not think he was paid for his extra trouble. Besides, the consumer knows nothing of the dirt, so he swallows it and does not complain.

THE ONLY BOB BURDETTE. ecture at Music Hall for the News

The sale of reserved seats for the Burdette lecture, to be given at Music Hall, Thursday evening, March 12, will open this morning at Gardner & Oli-ver's book store, No. 259 South Spring street. The larger portion of the net proceeds of this entertainment will be The Genesee Illinois Republic, in speaking of Burdette's recent lecture there, more material left, and there can never be another Bob Burdette. This can be said of few who live or have lived. Of Addison was material left that out-Addisoned Addison, and there was left much of the rare spiritual essence for Ben Jonson, and Charles Lamb, and Dick Steele, and Tom Chatterton, and Noll Goldsmith, and Tom Moore, and Charles Dickens. We know there was, because some rare and radiant alchem ist has taken of it all, and made of it Bob Burdette.

"There have been wits, alas too many, whose weapons were the lance, the whose weapons were the lance, the sword, the knife; and with these they would thrust, and plerce and flay us, till we were put to the absurd extrem-ity of howling with dismay, while our eyes are alight with admiration at the keenness of the blade; but here is a eyes are alight with admination at the seenness of the blade; but here is a name who, if he could make a million nen laugh at the cost of a single hidien tear from some poor stung one's ye, that tear would never fall. There is nothing more ennobling, nothing more lofty, nothing more sublime than the devotion of one's life to doing good. The pages of history are rich with the names of men and women who have by there heroic and self-sacrificing deeds left a legacy to the world that must ever be cherished as an imperishable blessing to mankind. Not in point of numbers, however, we regret to say, are the annals of the past enriched with the sanctity of such names, but the very rarity of this greatest of all virtues makes the memory of those who possessed it in the past and they of the present all the sweeter and more enduring. The advent of men or women in a community who are giving their time and talents to the work of benefiting their fellow-beings is always halled with great rejoicing and is to be wondered at, we ask, that the establishing of the Pacific Coast Magnetic Institute, with its staff of matchless physicians, whose great aim and ambition is the releasing of helplessly afflicted people from the bondage of disease and restoring them to health and happiness, is welcomed as the greatest boon the public of this city everenjoyed? The staff is comprised of three gentlemen, each one singularly distinguished for his attainments and accomplishments in the particular department under his directions in the institute. After years of indomitable perseverence and indefatigable research they have evolved a system of treatment that is recognized as the greatest triumph in the medical world ever known. It is the application of Vital Force or Animal Magnetism by transmission through the ocular channels. To such a degree of perfection has is the application of Vital Force or Animal Magnetism by transmission through the ocular channels. To such a degree of perfection has the system been developed that it may be said to be absolutely infallible in the treatment of every disease known to medical jurisprudence. This fact is demonstrated every day. A full score of men and women, on an average, who have suffered for years from the most painful diseases that have proved impervious to all other treatments are discharged daily from the institute perfectly cured.

Angeles Shippers—Daily Weather Report Here to be Published in New York Papers.

At a recent meeting of the Merchants' Association, it was resolved that an effort should be made to secure the publication of the Los Angeles daily weather reports in the New York Herald. This paper is now publishing the temperature of the winter resorts in both Europe and America, and the Merchants' Association will endeavor to make arrangements with one of the transcontinental telegraph companies to transmit the daily weather report from Los Angeles to New York for publication in the columns of the Herald.

Craig, Twits, Daniel, Simpson and Mesmer. They will meet a like committee from the Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Trade to consider the advisability of revising the city charter.

Mr. Stuart read a brief address upon the freight rates upon goods shipped to Yuma and points beyond, as far as El Paso, which claimed that the railroad company is discriminating between San Francisco and Los Angeles in favor of the former, to the detriment, especially, of the wholesale Grocers' Association. An address has been prepared by that body, asking for a scale of rates that would be more just to Los Angeles merchants. After discussion of the subject, it was decided that definite action should be postponed until the next meeting.

Mr. Stuart also remarked that the unlimited credit now being extended by California jobbers to their customers seriously interferes with business prosperity. Mr. Hamburger said that eastern merchants were shortening their credits, and that it is now customary to sell goods on thirty days, 1½ off for cash.

The next subject under discussion was broached by Mr. Coulter, who spoke of the high rates of fire insurance prevailing in Los Angeles. He had been informed by the agent of a large foreign company that these high rates are parily due to rotten hose in the fire department. The engines are good and the force efficient, but defective hose is a serious drawback. The secretary was requested to invite the presence of Fire Chief Moore to the next meeting for more specific information upon this important question.

Compolaints of inadequate street crossings were made by both Mr. Ham formation upon this important vision.

Complaints of inadequate street crossings were made by both Mr. Hamburger and Mr. Coulter, who recommended that the subject be brought to the attention of the City Council,

Speeches at Hazard's Pavilion Receive Criticism. The ideas advanced in the speeches made at Hazard's Pavilion last Satur-day evening did not appear to suit the made at Hazard's Pavilion last Saturday evening did not appear to suit the ideas of some of the audience, judging by a communication from a laboring man received by The Times, in which certain inconsistencies in the arguments made by the speakers are held up to ridicule as being utterly absurd. The question under discussion was the best course to pursue in order to dissolve, in some legal way, the solid front made by the Asian pauper labor, as it is now popular to style the nonvoting laboring classes of this country. As he says, a good deal of interest was excited by the announcement that speeches upon the subject would be made by a minister, a hawyer and a "professor," and many members of the American laboring class were present. The writer of the communication to The Times expressed some surprise that boycotting was openly advanced as a remedy for "Chinese cheap labor" by the representatives of both law and gospel. With the latter, especially, it certainly seemed rather inconsistent to send missionaries out to civilize the heathens, and then boycott them for endeavoring to follow the precepts of their teachers, and to live according to the laws and customs of their adopted land.

The writer adds that it would be their teachers, and to live according to the laws and customs of their adopted land.

The writer adds that it would be hardly reasonable to expect a minister of the gospel to be versed in the technicalities of civil law, but when a lawyer next came forward and advocated the same course of procedure against this newly-civilized people, recommending all Americans to stand in together against the Asiatic laborer, it did seem that there was a twist somewhere in the order of things.

The professor who took the stand as the next speaker started out by advancing certain ideas that were purely just, legal and Christian, according to the correspondent, but he wound up by advocating the boycott system with as much zeal as his predecessors, and even going beyond them in the length to which he carried it with regard to the working classes.

The critic winds up by saying that the whole meeting was enough to puzzle even Americans, to say nothing of the ignorant Europeans who have come to this country to make a living. The meeting closed without a single idea having been advanced except the somewhat vague one of standing together on all occasions to boycott Asiatic labor.

"MAKE THE TRAMP MOVE ON."

The subject of the tramp is one that is just now attracting much attention in the East, and it deserves at the hands of Californians the utmost limit of consideration, for in this genial and kindly clime, which has a summer all the year, the genus hobo is even a more pestiferous nuisance than he is in any other State in the Union.

There have recently been societies organized in other sections of the country looking to the removal of the tramp incubus, and the Chicago Trib-une, under the caption at the head of une, under the caption at the nead of this article, thus refers to the subject:

"After years of patient endurance society has inaugurated a movement to rid itself of that pesky American product, the tramp. That immense half-caste body impolitic has brought this war upon itself. The public has withstood the imposition long after forbearance ceased to be a virtue. These lower strata of humanity, who "do" only the unwary, who are leeches "do" only the unwary, who are leeches obtaining sustenance from the energies of others, have been a curse to the community. It is not a charity to lend on the other hand, crimes are com-mitted in the name of mercy to end the sufferings of honest but poverty-stricken citizens. The contentment stricken citizens. The contentment of a tramp, his happiness in jail or out, proves his total deprayity. If the tramp must live let him be sentenced to citizenship and compelled to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow. The day is past when we can countenance vagabonds who toil not, neither do they spin. Public safety demands their removal. Public charity is pleading for it. The society for the removal. ing for it. The society for the removal of the tramp deserves all the help it can be given. The United States is large, but it has no place for the tramp. Bondage and vagabondage should have been swept out simultaneously."

Perrine's comet has given the earth the go-by, and is now sailing away from us through space at a lively rate. On the last day of January it was 55,000,000 miles from the sun, and at latest reports was 15,000,000 mile from our world. All danger of a collision is past and the frightened inhabitant of our common mother may go to sleep in peace.

Not in the memory of the oldest inhabitant have there been so much war and so many rumors of war as there are at the present period. Apparently the whole world is in troublous throes and more than one dangerous situation confronts the race. The peace-loving populace yet hope, however, that much of the disturbance may end in talk instead of cannonading.

Dazey's comedy drama, "The Old Lime Kin," pronounced by many to be superior to the same author's fa-mous success, "In Old Kentucky." The action of the play is largely in the Yel-lowstone National Park and charac-teristic scenes of wild beauty and pic-turesqueness give varied color to the settings. The engagement is for three nights only.

For the coming-week the Dailey company at the Burbank Theater will present a great double bill combining comedy and pathos, the pleces underscored being the funny three-act comedy "Baby," and for a curtain-raiser, a pathetic little skit, entitled "The Open Gate." May Nannary will play the leading role in both pieces and her support is so cast that delightful performances may be anticipated. The same bill will be given every night this week with a matinée on Saturday afternoon.

The Orpheum bills its usual array of attractive features, which comprise the Pantzer brothers, marvelous head equilibrists and acrobats; the Garrisons, a team of artists famous in travesty; Carrol Johnson, the minstrel, with the musical voice; Billy Carter, the funny moke comedian in a medley of topical songs, witty gags and music on the banjo; the Friedlander brothers, musical comedians; Tina Corri in her male impersonations, and Walter Stanton, the giant man rooster in his great nov-

COMING ATTRACTION. The advance sale of seats for the engagement here of the American Extravaganza Company next Thursday, begins at the Los Angeles Theater this morning.

"Sinbad" will be the burlesque presented. Mr. Henderson brings back to Los Angeles this, the most successful of all his productions in practically a new shape.

Of the original members of the company, but three remain—Louise Elssing, Frankle Raymond and J. L. Gulltmette.

Thoroughly believing in the infusion of new theatrical blood, Mr. Henderson has acquired for "Sinbad" the services of Oscar Girard as principal comedian; Hugh Chilivers, as baritone; Harry Clay Blaney as the Old Man of the Sea, and such other clever people as Turner and Murphy, Eloise Willard, Marta Rainsford, Flora Evans, etc., etc., and as for scenery, it is all new and fresh. The costumes are said to be marvels of richness and beauty. "Sinbad" abounds particularly in effective electrical effects. The score and the book have, to use a current expression, been brought thoroughly "up to date." This is especially true of the new music and songs and the choruses and ballets are on the usual Henderson scale of superb prodigality.

Did Christ's Miracles Prove That Jesus Was God!—The Twofold Testimony of Adoption-En-thusiastic Christians.

ent." Two messages come to us from the Spirit's charge to the churches of Asia—the fact of the irreparable past, and the hope and promise of today. Every life illustrates these truths. Whatever our alms have been, whether whatever our alms have been, whether bounded by this world or reaching into the unseen, our lives are filled with losses. The gospel tells the fact, not that we may bemoan our defeats, but that we may be fortified for present victory. We shall be awakened to save the good that remains when we realize what we have lost. The past is gone beyond recell; the record is forever.

victory. We shall be awakened to save the good that remains when we realize what we have lost. The past is gone beyond recall; its record is forever sealed and unalterable. We cannot make its losses good. In a solemn sense God, while offering to forgive the guilt and to remove the condemnation, does not reimburse us for all we have thrown away. He shows us how to save the remainder and bear fruit unto eternal life. The dead past is impressed upon us in considering the flight of time. Time is the measure of all values determining success and failure. The present instant only is ours, to mold and to control. Life is a tremor, a breath between two eternities.

Every day is a golden gift from the Father of lights; but we must freight it with good deeds and loving service if we would not have it lost forever. Our relation to the past is shown in what we are. We ourselves are the product of those years, idle, selight, or devoted and noble. In an unexpected crisis we are controlled by the past. Character is never a gift outright, but always a growth. The words and the deeds leap forth like a sudden birth that was begotten and nourished in darkness. In the bustle of the crowd it is too late to change character that has crystallized through the years. We cannot acquire in a moment a nature that requires years of gradual change. The mellowing, sweetening influence of trial, discipline, sorrow, observation and toll, is the bestowment of the Spirit to those who patiently endure and fight the good fight, and hold fast to the end. But the Spirit's charge is not only a rebulke and a warning, but a promise also. By God's grace we may "stablish the things that remain." Today is here. It is ours while we live it, It may be so employed as to be a joy to us forever and we be glad that no power can alter its good record nor change its blessed influence.

Save the remainer of God's gift to you. If you have squandered the past begin now to live for right and truth and God. Who shall measure the good results to flow from strengthening

UNITY.

A sermon on "Did Christ's Miracles Prove that Jesus Was God?" was preached by the pastor, J. S. Thomson, from the text, "Jesus of Nazareth, a man approved of God among you by miracles, and wonders, and signs, which God did by Him in the midst of you,"
Acts ii, 22.
Christ fed five thousand people with seven loaves and two fishes; but Elljah made the handful of meal in the widow's barrel, and a little oil in a cruse sustain him and her, and her son, for many days, and Ellisha made a widow's pot of oil produce such large quantities that she was able to sell enough to pay her dead husband's debt.
If Christ made wine out of water,
Moses changed the water of the Nile into blood. Christ walked upon a stormy lake; but Moses divided the Red Sea. If the disciples saw celestial and spiritual wonders on the Mount of Transfiguration, the servant of Elisha saw the hills covered with charlots and horses of fire. Christ raised the daughter of the ruler from the dead, and the son of the widow of Nain and Lazarus from the grave; but Elisha brought back to life the Shunamite's son, and Elligh restored to life the son of the widow of Zarephath, and the very bomes of Elisha infused life into son, and Ellijah restored to life the son of the widow of Zarephath, and the very bones of Elisha infused life into a corpse that was thrown into the prophet's grave. If Christ ascended to the stars in a cloud. Elliah rose to heaven in a whirlwind with the grand accompaniments of charlots and horses of fire. Christ never performed such a stupendous miracle as Joshua did when he commanded the sun and moon to stand still. Elijah prevented it from raining for three years; he summoned fire down from heaven to devour his sacrifice, and he ordered the lightning to kill two companies of men each containing fifty men. These are cosmic miracles on the grandest scale. If it be true that the miracles of Christ proved that He was God, then the mightier miracle of Joshua proved him to be God, and the magnificent miracles of Moses proved him to be God, and Elijah also was God, because he performed grand miracles. Bad people, ilke the maglelans of Egypt, like Judas and like the false Christs of whom Jesus spoke, were able to perform miracles.

Christ did not place the highest value and like the faise Christs of whom Jesus spoke, were able to perform miracles. Christ did not place the highest value upon the mere ability to work miracles. He said to Philip: "He dust believeth on Me, the works that I do shall he do also, and greater works than these shall be do." The New Testament does not teach that a miracle-worker is God; nor is there any passage in the Old Testament that declares that Moses. Joshua or Elliah was God. All of Christ's miracles were wrought to cure diseases, cast out devils, and do good. In no instance did He use the power which God gave Him to do harm. His were the miracles of one who loved humanity with a divine love. Moses injured and killed innoncent Egyptians with his miracles. Joshua's miracle enabled him to slaughter his enemies. Ellijah killed a hundred men with his ilightning. Samson murdered a thousand men with the jaw-hone of an ass, and he killed a houseful of beople as he was dying. Christ loved to do good to afflicted humanity whether Friendly or unfriendly to Him. He organized companies to heat the sick, and showed them how to bless the afflicted. Christ Himself declares that all His power was borrowed from God. "I can of Mine own self do nothing. "The Father Who dwelleth in Me. He Goeth the works." Even Peter declares that God raised Christ from the dead: and therefore, the sublimest of Christ's miracles was God's work.

CENTRAL METHODIST.

A sermon on "The Twofold Testimony of Adoption" was preached by Rev. C. T. Wilson, from the text: "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit that we are the children of God."

There is a class of believers, who admitting that it is their problems.

utter disregard of the higher test, the testimony of the Spirit. This criterion is an uncertain one. Many men have been deceived to their eternal ruin by their consciences. The human conscience is as varied and deprayed as humanity is diversified and fallen. What one man could do without, the slightest compunction of consolence would cause another to shudder at its mention. Eyery man has a conscience of his own and masters it by his will. It has no law that men are forced to obey. Man has so stifled his consolence that it esither responds to right nor vibrates to wrong. This is conscience that it esither responds to right nor vibrates to wrong. This is conscience not as God gave it, but as sin ruined it. Let not such men conclude that as their deadened consciences do not condemn them God does not. Nor can they safely judge themselves justified by any process of their own minds, by any logical deduction from their ways of life, acts of charity or lines of thought. Man's unaided intellect has not the capacity to determine whether he is saved or not.

The other class is formed of those who belittle themselves and undervalue their own judgment in the tenacity with which they hold to the docirine of the Spirit's testimony. They think that this is the only reliable witness. Now, the Spirit indeed must testify, but we should prove the Spirit, lest me mistake our own imagination for the voice of God in the soul. Remember also that Satan is a spirit, and that he sometimes transforms himself into an angel of light for the purpose of deceiving God's children. It is an member also that Satan's a spirit, and that he sometimes transforms himself into an angel of light for the purpose of deceiving God's children. It is an historical fact that every schism in the Christian church has been led and inspired by those professing to be guided by the Holy Spirit; and "crankism" always according to its own testimony, finds its source in divine inspiration. And from this perversion of a grand doctrine spring the endless stories of dreams and visions and mysterious communications, which prompt of a grand doctrine spring the endless stories of dreams and visions and mysterious communications, which prompt and support spiritualistic fanaticism and fraud in all its undertakings. I have stated the two extreme views of this doctrine of Christian assurance. Neither of the views is false; they are only exaggerations of half truth to the exclusion of the other half. One class rests all its hope upon the indirect testimony of the individual conscience, the other upon the direct witness of the Spirit. They should have the combined testimony of the objective spirit given of God and the subjective human spirit. But we shall not know unmistakably of our adoption by any inference of our own mind alone, for the natural mind cannot discern the things of God; the human intellect cannot comprehend the spiritual without divine illumination. Nor can we depend upon impressions alone, which are supposed to be derived from the Holy Spirit, for the office of the Spirit is not to perform the mission of our own spirits. Hence we must believe in the necessity of a twofold witness, if any assurance is given. If we are children of God we have been justified and regenerated. Justification is, therefore, an act in the divine mind whereby we are forgiven of past sins. But no one may know by unaided human reason what takes place in the divine mind. Hence, the necessity for the direct witness of the Spirit, the objective testimony to personal pardon. We have also been regenerated, and as the becoming a new creature is a different matter from forgiveness, in the very nature of things it denates. coming a new creature is a different matter from forgiveness, in the very nature of things it demands another witness. It is not an act in the divine mind, but a change in our moral na-ture, and to this our own spirits are competent witnesser.

CONGREGATIONAL. The theme chosen by Rev. Dr. Day was, "Enthusiasm in Christian Work," for which he chose these words, found in Psalm c, 2: "Serve the Lord with gladness; come before His presence with singing."
"The Psalms," said the speaker. "both gladness; come before His presence with singing."

"The Psalms," said the speaker, "both sing and weep for us. Enthusiasm is essential to any worthy success; nowhere is it more essential than in dealing with heart-life, and in the complicated interests of the kingdom of right-eousness. Indifference is inefficiency; aspiration is born of inspiration. Our whole being must awake and be aglow if we would find success or enjoyment in Christian work. Fortunately, the Christian worker stands within the sweep of multiplied sources of enthusiasm. There is the quicketing that comes from work itself; ability, put in action, both enlarges the ability and intensifies the interest of the actor. Enthusiasm may spring from contemplation, but enthusiasm in its robustness and endurance is born only of actual work.
"Enthusiasm in Christian work is also."

powers, a higher seir-respect, courage and hopefulness, which breaks more and more into enthusiasm, and his labor becomes delightful.

"Enthusiasm in Christian work grows as we take some special burden upon our hearts, accept some definite re-sponsibility, are at personal cost and care to be counted when the roll-call sounds down the ranks of Christian workers.

care to be counted when the roll-call sounds down the ranks of Christian workers.

"Another source of enthuslasm in Christian work is tound in the spirit of benevolence which pervades all true Christian service. There is sunshine in the song, and cheer in the soul of him who helps to light the sky of the darkened mind, who brings to such a one that there is for him a great Companion, a Redeemer, an Infinite Father who has power to be trusted and grace to be loved. Such kindness is quickening, expanding, inspiring.

"There is a mighty inspiration of enthuslasm in the visible results of Christian work. Over against the world to Christ is the vast work already accomplished. Not more surely may we be enthused by the slight of a vast company saved, part in heaven, part on earth, than by the sight of the host still unsaved. Assurance is everywhere that the work of the Christian toller is not in vain. With all this is the ardor kindled by the sublimity of the divine undertaking in which each Christian worker has a part."

FIRST BAPTIST.

Dr. W. C. Wilkinson, professor of poetry and criticism in Chicago University, preached a sermon in the First Baptist Church yesterday morning on "Orthodoxy; What it is and What it is Worth." In substance he said: Orthodoxy is not agreement with men, but agreement with God. It is not thinking as the majority think, but thinking as it is right to think. It is not accord with your church, but accord with truth. In one word, it is right thinking. Right thinking, or orthodoxy is not a function of the brain merely. The head cannot be orthodox alone. The heart enters into orthodoxy as much as the head. In truth, the heart is be-ith the mind and heart. The absurd-y of talking about its being no mat-try what you believe if you only be-ave right! Believing is belraving. In press days of audactous and assuring

Y.M.C.A. A large attendance, a splendid address and good music constituted an interesting service at the men's meeting yesterday afternoon in Association Hail. The first hait-hour was devoted to music, gospel songs, two selections by the orchestra. "Sanctus," by Gounod. "Love Not the World," by Sullivan. and a delightful cornet solo rendered by Miss Eisenmayer. Rev. C. S. Mason of the Pacific Gospel Union, read-the scripture and offered prayer; General Secretary Ball made remarks and Dr. Alexander Patterson of Chicago delivered the address. He said in part: "There are two questions which are perfectly fair and proper for man to ask concerning Christiamity: First, It is true? Second. Is it best, good or useful? Any man has a right to question concerning the ways of a Christian, and God does not object, providing he will act upon the truth of the matter as it appears to him. ahd as long as he makes good use of the knowledge. Is religion true? We must judge by its root and by its fruit. The proof is in the Christian. There isn't a man here today who has not some time in his life come across or been in contact with one Christian at the least. There are surely some who realized what the life of Christ means. But you say, what about those people going about wearing masks? They are not Christians, and they do not prove anything but the truth of Christianity. You never saw a person or heard of any one trying to counterfelt or forge counterfelt money. Hypocrites are some of the best proofs of Christianity. If Christian are but human beings. This life is but a school for humanity. In the next world, we can only say we were saved by grace, and not through any merits of our own have we come. There are periods in our life, when, If it were not for Christ, we would have been disgraced and have hidden our face. Do not judge by other people wholly?

"Is religion best?

"I do not say if you have become a Christian you will have no troubles, and make money hand over fist, as they say. You will, however, derive a great deal of happiness, valling over the lust of men, and the furious opposition of worldly power to the civilizing of nations, and to the convincing, converting and comforting of the hearts of millions, who were once the enemies of God, and to all righteousness. The exact fulfillment of the numerous, the particular, and circumstantial predictions thereof are infallible proofs that they only are the word of God, able to make us wise to salvation.

Y. W. C. A.

The gospel meeting of the Y. W. C. A. yesterday afternoon was well attended. It was opened by a song service, led by Miss Lizzie Oliver, after which Miss Florence Yarrow gave a strong, practiby also hissie Oliver, after which miss Florence Yarrow gave a strong, practi-cal address, speaking earnestly of the good that may be done by being out and out for Christ, and urged all to be missionaries and preachers in the sense of "passing the word along." SIMPSON TABERNACLE.

SIMPSON TABERNACLE.

Rev. C. C. McLean, D.D., chose as his theme Deuteronomy xii, 3, "They that be wise shall shibe as the firmament," etc. The student of the text will go deep into the study of it and see that there is not only glory but degrees of glory for these, these who are co-laborers with God. So those who be wise shall be recognized as those who shall come forth to sit upon the right hand of the Great Judge in the day of judgment. In all the teachings of this book there are degrees of shining of those who work for Jesus. All that the Lord asks of us is to do what we can according to our ability when we become Christians. Then there is that the Lord asks of us is to do what we can according to our ability when we become Christians. Then there is another salvation, a salvation of fidelity. You say if I get inside of heaven I will be satisfied. No you won't, you will be satisfied. No you won't, you will be ashamed of your record. There is a book kept, not only of the sins forgiven, but also of the deeds done. God does not require impossibilities of us, but he does require us to give and to do abundantly of our ability. Although you may be swallowed up and lost in the great multitude of workers, God is keeping the record, and you will meet it and your reward. At the evaning service Dr. McLean preached from Acts xvi, 30, "Sir, what must I do to be saved?" The teaching of Jesus Christ is that we must be renewed, born from darkness into light. This is the religion that Jesus came to give.

EAST SIDE CHURCHES.

The East Side churches, namely; Asbury Methodist Episcopal, Second Presbyterian, Baptist, Congregational and Christian, met in the Presbyterian Church Sunday evening for the first of a series of evangelistic services conducted by Dr. Alexander Patterson. Great interest was manifested by all the churches and a large audience was present. The combined choirs opened with "Standing on the Promises." The speaker addressed the congregation on the salutation of ancient times, "Is it well with thee?" Christians should not only greet persons with courtesy, but heartily also. This question of saturation is or should be of great importance to the Christian. Gladstone, when once asked, "What is the greatest question of the day?" said "The gospel of Jesus Christ." The trifling questions of personal or political affairs are nothing beside this eternal query: "Is it well with the?" Answer this question definitely. Is it well with unfaithful Christians who do not love the Bible, nor prayer, nor dying souls? No; selfish absorption is wrong. The speaker pictured the spiritual decline of a soul which has grown cold and deadened to the first love of godly things. "I appeal to you to make it the business of your life for a few days to get right with God again. The backsilders—of which this State, I'm told, is full—I say that you'll never be happy till you return to the God you have torsaken. God's spirit is calling you back. Lastly, to those who have never known God as a father, I appeal to you to awake from your indifference. That you are with the majority will be cold comfort at the last day. God's word against man's ignorance is agnosticism. It is your business to know. Unbelief is the root of all anti-Christian opimon. FIRST ENGLISH LUTHERAN.

Rev. A. B. Shrader of Nevada, Iowa, preached on "Personal Loyalty to Christ." The text was found in Colossians, 3, 24: "Ye serve the Lord Christ." He said: These words were addressed to servants, slaves. An appeal to the master motive in human kind is contained in them. What is that motive?

christian you will have no troubles, and make money hand over fist, as they say. You will, however, derive a great deal of happiness, and the outcome will be in the hereafter. You will find men today who have burned their candles at both ends, because of the sins of early life. It's a great thing for a man to get to that point that he thinks life is a failure. We must get this evil concelt out of us, and not think we are smarter than some other people. Let man get to that point where he says I am nothing, take, me, Lord, and make something out of me.

Put Christianity into people and they will see that the Lord hates sin, but He loves His people and wants to help them. The man who will take God into his life will see better times ahead. The first thing that the soul needs before humanitarianism can get in its work. is spirituality. Unless the tree has root it is good for nothing. There is nothing so attractive to man as a sacred, glorified soul, and this is the time and the place to say, I will be a man and walk with Christ."

PACIFIC GÖSPEL UNION.

"The Book of the Ages" was the theme presented by Superintendent C. S. Mason. Before the adoption of the name Biblos, "The Book" or Biblia, "The Books," the sacred writings were denominated "The Scriptures," or "The Sacred Letters." This book is the "Monarch of all Literature; the most venerable; the most sacred, divinely inspired book of God." It takes us into the eternity of the past, the eternity of the past, the eternity of the future. It is God-given; it is God-presented. It's amazing success, prevailing over the lust of men, and the furious opposition of worldly power to the civilizing of nations, and to the Apply it. Let the appeal be made to the day laborer, the professional man; it is the same. Personal loyalty to Christ puts a man at his best. It makes him a soldier. Under the inspiration of Christ's leadership legislators will enact wise and far-reaching daws. This is the strongest appeal that can be made to the ministry. Fear will not drive men lato the ministry nor keep them there; neither conscience, nor hope of reward; but loyalty to Christidoes keep them faithful and make them bold. This sends the missionary round the world; this makes martyrs for Christ. It is therefore the master motive. Let all our services be rendered as unto Christ. Consecration of self and giving of means become easy under this motive. This appeal is the strongest that can be made to a man who is not a disciple of Jesus. Come to Christ, follow Him, love and serve Him. His approval is the highest inspiration. Communion with Him is heaven and eternal joy.

The sermon was delivered without notes and was enforced with striking illustrations. Many came forward at the close of services and thanked the preacher for his helpful words. He is making a tour of the Coast and speaks in highest terms of praise concerning this city.

It is announced that Rev. J. D. Foster, who for some years has been Congregational minster in charge of the work at Lorin, will leave that field about April 1. His successor to the pastorship has not yet been selected, but it is generally understood that the committee in charge will offer it to Rev. Mr. Sargent of Santa Rosa. Mr. Sargent has preached a number of times for the church, and seems to be at present the only candidate in the field for the position of regular pastor.

Loss of Nearly One Hundred Thousand Dollars.

scape of Passengers Was Provi-dential—The Engineer Displayed Great Coolness in Stopping the Train—Broken Flange.

Later particulars of the disastrous wreck of a passenger train at Del Mar, Saturday night, of which a correct report war published in The Times yesterday morning, show that the loss as estimated in dollars and cents was enormous, and that there was no loss of life seems, owing to the interposition of Providence, and the presence of mind of the engineer. The passengers and trainmen were placed in a most perilous situation, and their escape from a holocaust seemed almost miraculous. The story of the wreck is thus told by the Times correspondent at San Diego:

SAN DIEGO, March &-(Regular Correspondence.) The wreck of the Chl-cago limited express bound for this city, about a mile north of Del Mar, shortly after 9 o'clock last night, was one of the most carrow escapes from a fearful holocaust in the records of California railroading. As the train a fearful holocaust in the records of California railroading. As the train was approaching Del Mar on the up grade, at a speed of about twenty miles an hour, on a slightly-curved portion of the track, the wheels of the truck of the engine tender gave out, presumably because of a broken dange. These trucks were forced under the front trucks of the baggage car, forcing it from the track, and, in turn, the smoking car and day coach were quickly thrown in a zig-zag position, one to the left, one to the right and so on up to the chair and the sleeping cars. These cars were simply derailed and did not topple over. The day coach, which was thrown to the right, overhung a steep embankment, and was prevented from making a fearful plunge with its human freight only by tile strength of the couplings of the cars at either end of it. Had these couplings broken doubtless lives would have been lost in the falling car. The locomotive coupling was broken and the engine ran away from the wreck several hundred feet, dragging the disabled tender. H. G. Wilshire of Los Angeles, who was in the chair car, with Mrs. Wilshire, said to the Times correspondent that the first indication of the mishap was the sudden stopping of the car, a. If the engineer's carelessness in shaking up the passengers oviolently. Then the porter announced that everything was all right, and no one need be alarmed. Mr. Wilshire and Dr. R. E. Williams of San Francisco were about the first to get out and view the promiscuous assemblage of coaches. No screams were heard. Dr. Williams and Mr. Wilshire, assisted by others, helped the passengers to escape from the upturned day coach by handing them out through the doorway. The high proof oil in the car lamps prevented fire from that source. One woman lost her baby. The infant was finally recovered. A Chinese doctor was wrethed over the loss of his medicine chest. Another woman bewalled the loss of a pocketbook. was approaching Del Mar on the up earth. Recognition of this fact has prompted The Times to defend the best fruit grown there and in other sections from that section of the Rivierside Valley which cannot be depended on to produce fruit equally as good.

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and the people of Los Angeles could hardly find a better way of applying the old truism than by helping to erect a home for the newsboys. The effect would be felt in a very few years, and the overflowing jalls and reformatories would have a sensible falling off in their recruits. A boy adrift upon the streets, and deprived of every kind of home influence, has not received a fair chance in the battle of life. He should be given at least a show.

Ventura county will soon have a new outlet for the product of her oil fields. Eastern capitalists have selected a suitable site, and will erect an oil refinery in which water white of the streets of the control of the care of the care the sections. The lucky fowl was a source of much amusement to the chilled and thankful, yet disgusted passengers who congregated in a band of a hundred or more a block or so away from the burning train to await the arrival of the relief train from this city. In about five hours the relief train arrived and after waiting an hour returned to this city at 4 o'clock this morning.

rived and after waiting an hour returned to this city at 4 o'clock this morning.

Charles H. Souther, one of the owners of the Boston ranch in El Cajon, who was coming here from Boston, lost baggage valued at $1000. Mr. and Mrs. Kellen lost all of their trunks, valued at $1500.

One of the train hands went from the wreck to Del Mar to telephone for relief. The line would not work. A messenger was then sent back to Enclintas, six miles, and word was sent to this city. As the available locomotives were being cleaned, it was nearly 1 o'clock this morning before steam could be raised and the relief train started. General Manager K. H. Wade was aboard the wrecking train, with physicians and a wrecking-crew. Altogether, the wreck was a costly affair. The train of five cars is a complete loss, save the iron work. The locomotive was saved. The losses in baggage and of all the mails are likely to be considerable. That no lives were lost seems a miracle to those who saw the wreck.

Many of the wrecked passengers used the blankets from the burned sleeper as wraps to protect them from the chilly night air. When seated in the unheated relief cars and on the way to this city, the colored porter, who was one of the most thoroughly-scared people in the wreck, came through the cars and collected these blankets from the shivering people, and George Pulman and his African hirelings were thoroughly criticised. No provisions, stimulants or other comforts were provided for the passengers to whom the exposure in the wet grass and night air was a serious matter.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

The Associated Press account of the wreck says:

SAN DIEGO, March 8.—The relief train sent to last night's railroad wreck reached there at 2:30 this morning and loaded the passengers and returned to the city, reaching here at 4:30 a.m., There were eighty passenger in all, about thirty of them San Diegans, and of the whole number the most serious injury was a sprained ankle. The only serious injury was a sprained ankle. The only serious injuries received by any persons were bruises of the head and a lacerated arm, sustained by Conductor A.E. Kinney, and quite severe bruises by Baggage Master King.

The train was ascending the long grade a mile and a half north of Del Mar at 9 o'clock, running about twenty-five miles an hour. Suddenly, without warning, the tender flew the track on account of a broken flange, and the other cars, with the exception of the Pullman, went off the track. Engineer Thomas applied the brakes and reversed the lever, stopping the train its own length. The drawhead between the tender and baggage-car was broken and the engine and tender went on about a hundred feet. The baggage-car left the track, turning on the side. Next to it was the smoker, which straddled the track, and the trucks being completely demolished and the car resting upon its bottom. The day coach, behind the smoker, was on the right side of the track, half upturned and overhanging a twenty-foot embankment. If the smoker had not lost list trucks the weight of the day coach would no doubt have dragged the whole train over the embankment. As it was, the chains held the train intact and the passengers knocked out windows and crawled out of the coach. The parlor car was badly damaged and was off the track. The Pullman, the last-car, was uninjured.

The passengers took the wreck coolly, the only shrick being that of a young mother whose baby was thrown from her arms. The child was uninjured.

The baggage car took fire immediately and the expressman had to work lively to save the Wells-Fargo treasure box. One trunk was saved. The malls, express, books and alf papers were lost. The passengers hustled into the sleeper and got out blankets, car oling on the spot until the arrival of the relief train.

Nothing could be done to stop the fire, as the cars were tightly held by the overhanging day coach. One by one the cars burned, until all were totally destroyed. Thousands of dollars worth of baggage was destroyed. The company places its loss at $50,000. The parlor car was valued at $10,000 and the Pullman at $16,000. One of the heaviest losers is the Stearns bicycle team. I hey had fifteen machines, including a sextuplet, the whole lot being valued at over $500.

If the engineer had not displayed great coolness in applying the brakes and stopping the train it would have gone down a fifty-foot embankment and the loss of life would have been very la work expected and with no bad effects. When you take a Sarsaparilla and experience immediate relief without showing blood blotches and pimples on your face you know and your doctor will tell you that such sarsaparilla must be made up of vegetable herbs and contains no mineral drugs, no lodide of potassium. The experience of Mr. Theodore Stacke is the experience of all who have used Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla.

His attention was caught by the spectacle of a man laughing in unholy glee at his condition. Steering himself slowly but not deliberately in the direction of his ridiculer, he upbraided him with much profanity for his seeming unpoliteness. Having administered the deserved rebuke, he resumed his occupation of trying to walk on his cuffs, when some ill-conditioned boy in the crowd yelled "Ba-a-a."

Mr. T. Stacke lives at the Santa Rosa Hotel, cor. Fourth and San Pedro streets, Los Angeles, Cal. He has used several bottles of the native Sarsaparilla, and is now convinced Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is best, "for," said he, "when I began using the Sarsaparilla I had a desire to rest all the time. My blood was disordered, my tongue coated. At times, just for a moment, my head swam; I was not the least bit dizzy. I knew my needs and determined to use a bottle of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. I easily procured the first bottle, and after using for six days felt better in every way. When I bought the second bottle I had a little trouble in getting it. The drug clerk tried to talk me into using something else. I knew what I wanted and insisted on getting Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. I am heartily glad I bought the remedy and will gladly recommend it to any one. Joy's is certainly fine."

Many persons write complaining that they ask their druggist for Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla and nothing else was offered. Be sure you get Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla and nothing else.

WHEN you are seeking a cure for some ailment that is sap which is highly recommended by persons who have tried it. If you see the testimony of some indefinite, unknown person you are skeptical as to its honesty, because you don't know the person and you can't take chances on somebody you never heard of. But when a man whose friends are the leading men of the State, a merchant who is known and respected by all men in business, who is known by everybody within a radius of twenty miles of where he lives; when you see the testimony of such a man you cannot dispute nor deny its truth. SAN LEANDRO, Cal., December 14, 1895.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—DEAR SIE: As many of my friends and other people have asked me as to the truth of my statement given to you some time ago about my cure of varicocele and weakness by your Belt, I have taken great pleasure in assuring them that it is so, every word of it. I am cured of my varicocele, and also of the weakness which it caused, and I am sure my cure is permanent, for I am 49 years of age, and when a man can feel as strong—as well—as I do now, after suffering for twenty-six years from such a trouble as I had, the cure must be permanent. Nothing but pure gratitude to you and my desire to help my fellow-man prompts the use of my name in this manner. I will never tire of recommending your Belt. Yours gratefully,

Lt. L. JACCARD, SAN LEANDRO, Cal., December 14, 1895.

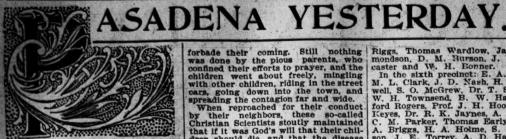

For all manner of weakness Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt is the most certain cure. For Varicocele-that insidious disease which saps the vital power from men-it is an absolute and the only cure. The book "Three Classes of Men" should be read by every man who is weak. It is free. 'Call and test this wonderful Belt. A regular practicing physician of thirty years' experience can be consulted here free of charge. When medicines can be used they will be given free with the Belt.

with other children, riding in the street cars, going down into the town, and spreading the contagion far and wide.

When reproached for their conduct by their neighbors, these so-called Christian Scientists stoutly maintained that if it was God's will that their children should die, and that their children should die, and that the disease should be communicated to others who should also die, they have nothing to do with it, and if their prayers do not avail, it is an evidence that God is with them in the matter.

The Health Officer is inclined to think there is blasphemy of morals as well as of Deity in this cold-blooded procedure, and steps will be taken to secure quarantine for the families, by application to the Supervisors, should they persist in their behavior. The disease is of a milld form, but somewhat more severe than at this time last year, and children suffering from it need care.

There is no children's protective association in this county, so far as is known here, but there is a State law which applies to such cases, and it is the intention of the officials to enforce it, and not to permit reckless exposure to disease, because some persons in the darkness of benighted fanaticism will not exercise proper precaution for the protection of their neighbors and themselves.

H. Watkins, Joseph Steffens, president Sacramento Chamber of Commerce; Gen. C. F. A. Last, commander of the Seventh Regiment; Max Popper, chairman Democratic County

Ogden of the Los Angeles Express; M. M. Ogden of the Continger of the Ventura Democrat.

They met Mrs. Last and Mrs. Mitchell, who had preceded them on a morning train. Mrs. Mitchell is an appointe of Gov. Budd. being a trustee of the Whittier Reform School. Mr. Van Alstyne was a law partner of the Governor away back in the '80s, before he ever had any official honors.

The entire party, upon their arrival at Echo Mountain, took the observation car over the Alpine division into the snow fields among the higher summits. On the same car were T. D. Lincoln of Pasadens, J. W. Tillotson, New York; Louis Metzgar of San Francisco, (the latter a blind man, but a good observer) and many others, crowding the car to its capacity.

The tourists entered the snow belt about a third of the distance to Alpine Tavern, and it continued to grow deeper as they ascended, till, at the terminus, it lay about twenty inches deep on the level. Across the bridge a sleigh and four black horses, girdled with jingling sleigh bells, was awaiting the load. The passengers, headed by Gov. Budd, filed through the path between the snow drifts to the strange apparition—a veritable sleigh on runners in Southern California—and quickly preëmpted every seat. But John Ragan had thoughtfully brought up the rear with a long narrow toboggan, to which the famous Samantha Jane was hitohed, and she did her duy "manful party in front bounded away in hilarious giee. But the party in the rear, consisting of Van Alstine, Watkins and Knight, seated on boxes and kegs, were by no means left out in the cold. They were in reach of the beautiful, and with well-aimed shots, pelted the Governor's party at every turn. One of these deadly missiles was stopped by the broad back of the head of the militia—Gen Last—and while the lady director of the Reform School was screaming at the ludicrous act the Governor gathered up the icy fragments and, remembering how he had been served when a boy, rubbed her face and exhorted her to "take it in good humor."

The party drove around the new Alpine Circle, among the giant pines, past the old and now almost classic log cabin and safely at the Tavern without encountering a "thank-you-marm."

A later train brought up Edward White of Watsonville (brother of Senator White), Col. J. Marion Brooks of Los Angeles, Judge E. W. Turner of Plattsburg, Mo.; President T. P. Lukens of the Pasadena National Bank, President J. M. Elliott of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, and wife, Hon. John T. Gaffey, H. J. Fleishman and many others.

At another table were seated Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Johnston, Joseph Schoder, Howard Schoder, Miss Ivy Schoder and Mrs. Helen Del Valle.

In the evening the guests assembled on the veranda and watched the play of the search-light.

On visiting the observatory, Jupiter, with his belts and sattelites, a beautiful star cluster, and Perrine's new comet were successively exhibited, after which Dr. Swift entertained the gubernatorial party in his sanctum, where he was piled with numerous questions by Gov. Budd, Secretary Brown, Mrs. Mitchell and others. Here the Governor betrayed more than a smattering knowledge both of the sciences of astronomy and geology.

Other guests noted today are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Powers, Rochester; Mrs. Conrad Lelp, Miss Elsa Leip, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Buhl, Chicago; A. R. Among the features of interest at the literary social at the college on Friday night, was a review on Jan Maclaren's "Beside the Bonny Brier Bush." read by Miss Anna Moore, teacher of elocution at the college. Miss Moore certainly is a good reviewer, the effort being a masterplece which was highly appreciated by the audience. A paper was read by the audience. A paper was read by the audience. The fields and orchards about Whitter are alive with teams and men plowing and cultivating since the rains cased, and the ground has been dry enough to work.

A 54-acre wainut orchard is now being planted between Old and New Rivers on the land belonging to Mr. Cohn of Los Angeles. The land is fine sandy soil, and lies along the road leading from Whittier to Los Angeles. This will be one of the finest orchards in that land of wainut orchards.

Secretary of State, L. H. Brown, was fairly carried away with the fine wainut orchards of the San Gabriel Valley, and declared that he must have a silice of this wonderful wainut land. Mrs. Gyrus Baldwin of this place, who had two cancers removed from her person at Los Angeles, on Tuesday, is reported doing well, which is gratifying to her many friends here.

C. W. Harvey and family have returned to their property on North Painfer avenue, and will make their home here for the present.

Gayety at the Park.

An ideal Sunday, ten thousand people, the beauties of Westlake Park heightened under the influence of the recent rains and the delights of popular music yesterday made one of those combinations that are chief among the pleasures of this city. Everybody was pleasures of this city. Everybody was at the park yesterday afternoon, and with him most of the family. That well-known Sunday expression, with the wrinkles smoothed out, and peaceful satisfaction of the countenance were universally with the crowd. Carriages, saddle horses and bicycles were almost as numerous as pedestrians. The grass was as popular as any other one article on the grounds.

Another Tug-of-war Challenge—The Brewery Rumor.

SAN DIEGO, March 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) Jack Dodge says that the San Diego tug-of-war team will send a challenge to the Los Angeles team to again try their strength on the rope. The challenge will include a trial between the teams collectivaly, and between the men individually, a trial which, it is believed, will reveal the actual strength of the respective men of these teams, and absolutely eliminate the possibility of bribery. The San Diego team feels most keenly the insult promulgated by the Messrs. Grav of the Los Angeles team, in alleging that some of the San Diego men bribed susceptible members of the Los Angeles team to give the recent Los Angeles team to give the recent contest to the San Diegans. The un-men bribed susceptible members of the Los Angeles team to give the recent contest to the San Diegans. The unsportsmanlike conduct of the Grays in admitting that they knew of bribery before the final tug between the two teams occurred, and their suppression of this knowledge of foul play until after the deciding tug had resulted in the defeat of the Los Angeles team, causes increased censure from true sportsmen.

There is no truth in the rumor that the 1160,000 brewery recently begun in this city is to be sold to San Francisco brewers. On Saturday the report that the sale was to be made was in general circulation, and the beer consumers of the bay region, who anticipate increased beer facilities by the completion of the proposed establishment, were inclined to be despondent. John G. Hinkel, president of the brewery outfit, is in San Francisco, and in response to telegraphic inquiries, he answered: "No truth in report whatever. Brewery not for sale at any price." It is further known that Hinkel's company has let contracts for $10,000 of iron work and for cement and other material. The San Francisco Brewery Association, which endeavors to control much of the beer traffic of the Coast, will, so it is believed, find a strong competitor in the San Diego concern. Mr. Hinkel has purchased a residence here, and in other ways indicates a determination to be a permanent resident.

INS OF MRS. ELIZABETH KLASEN LAID TO REST.

A Doctor on Bicycle Riding. Trouble Over Ostriches – News Notes and Personni Items.

SANTA ANA, March 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) The inquest over the remains of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Klasen was held late Saturday evening at the residence of the deceased, near the Southern Pacific depot, and the verdict of the jury was that the deceased died from the effects of strychnine poison administered by her own hand. The remains of Mrs. Klasen were laid to rest Sunday afternoon in the Protestant Cemetery. The deceased was a Catholic, but that church held no funeral services over her remains. Mrs. Klasen leaves two children, a husband and numerous friends to mourn her loss.

TROUBLE OVER OSTRICHES. TROUBLE OVER OSTRICHES.
W. A. Frantz of Anaheim is in trouble over his attempt to train a pair of ostriches to work in harness. For the past several weeks and even months Mr. Frantz and a man by the name of Eastman have been assiduously working with a pair of young ostriches with a view of teaching them to drive in harness. In this effort the gentlemen have been moderately successful, and almost any day they might be seen working with the big birds endeavoring to send them to a carriage, either single or double. The trouble they are having now though is from one George Hefiner, who has sworn to a complaint charging Mr. Frantz with cruekty to animals.

OF INTEREST TO IRRIGATORS.

The following paragraph from a recent issue of the Fullerton Tribune will prove interesting reading to irrigators in the northern portion of the county:
"Arrangements are being made by the business men of Fullerton to have money received at the Fruit Growers Bank for the purchase of irrigation water. There is now little, if any, doubt that the arrangements will be completed by April 1. Mr. Balcom will receive and send all money offered daily, without expense to the irrigators. Upon the last day of the run he will see that the money and orders arrive at the company's office before close of business for the day. This will surely be of great advantage to the irrigators, who have been obliged to leave their work in the busy season and go to Anaheim purposely to buy water."

IS BICYCLE RIDING INJURIOUS? OF INTEREST TO IRRIGATORS.

IS BICYCLE RIDING INJURIOUS? A doctor of this city has prepared an article for publication in the local press on the effects of bloycle riding, that, if read by the bicycle-riding public, would no doubt put enthusiastic riders to thinking. The doctor takes the stand that the present make of saddles used on bloycles are the things that bring about most of the evil effects. The front part of the saddle, or the narrow, pointed part, is the most objectionable. Continued use of these narrow, pointed saddles will bring about complications with both masculine and feminine riders, says the doctor, that will take years for the medical profession to overcome. The doctor further says that this subject, properly treated, should be given publicity through the columns of medical journals.

SANTA MONICA, March 8.—(Regular Correspondence,) John B, Folsom, son of N. R. Folsom of this city, died Saturday evening at the Nadeau Hotel, Los Angeles, after a brief illness. The deceased was married, and besides his widow leaves one child. He was 33 years of age and had been in business with his father. He was thrown from a carriage as a result of the runaway accident about a year ago, and struck on his head. For several weeks he lingered near death, and it was not thought he would recover. Since then he had several periods of illness. Last Thursday he was taken with a hemorrhage while in Los Angeles. Physicians were summoned, and temporary relief was afforded, but jater his condition became more serious. He was conscious to the last. He expired in his father's arms just before midnight Saturday evening. The remains were taken to Sharp & Samson's undertaking rooms, where it is probable the funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon. The father of the deceased is a cousin of Mrs. Cleveland, wife of the President. Benjamin Folsom of Buffalo, N. SOLDIERS' HOME.

SOLDIERS' HOME, March 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) A serious accident occurred this morning to Patrick Colbert. He is known as the "farmer." being in charge of the farming department, He had a sick cow to attend to, and started to give her a dose of medicine. The animal had a young calf near by and evidently thought Mr. Colbert was about to do some harm to her offspring. The cow ran toward him, and he tried to run away, but unsuccessfully. The cow seems to have caught him with her horns, and while she did not hurt him with them, she threw him violently against a post. He was taken to the hospital, and is suffering from serious bruises. There are fears that he is internally injured.

LARGE OLIVE ORCHARD.

The Enterprise says: "The culture of olives on a large scale is about to be undertaken in this county near the thriving town of Winchester. A beautiful foothill tract of nearly 1000 acres south of Winchester, on the new county road, has been selected and is conceded to be an ideal spot. The organization of a company to back the enterprise is under the direction of L. A. Crandall, who has his plans well matured. A. H. Judson of Los Angeles, and others have large interests in the enterprise, and enough support is thus assured to make the project a success. Experiments made by others in Southern California have demonstrated beyond cavil that olive culture is immensely profitable. About the only thing necessary is to get the trees started and care for them. It will require five years' time to realize returns, but when once in bearing the olive is a prollific yielder, and its product never fails of profitable sale. This location has been selected after a careful investigation, and it is judged by competent talent to be especially adapted to olive culture."

"I have never come across a young fellow—a mere beardless youth—in my experience," said Constable Slanker today, "that is so thoroughly a hardened criminal as this lad Thompson, whom we have just sent to Los Angeles jail. He confesses burglaries as easily as if he were telling of baseball games, and he knows the ways, methods, terms and schemes of crooks as well as men, who have followed a criminal career for years. to follow up that clew, he found that Thompson left Pomona one night on his wheel.

Then Los Angeles was searched and the lad was found, after three days, to be living in a home on San Fernando street, where he was the accepted lover of the young girl in the family. When Marshal Lorbeer went there and found the girl wearing a ring that was stolen from the Clogston House, and the mother possessing a breastpin that came from the home of Mr. Bryant in Pomona, he searched harder than ever for young Thompson. On Friday he got him. The lad was taken to the police headquarters in Los Angeles, the search of his clothing brought to light several gold and silver watches, a handful of diamond, pearl and sapphire pins, three gold rings, two gold watch chains, a large old breastpin, earrings, and several dollars, besides skeleton keys and keys for opening trunks and bureau drawers.

SOUTH RIVERSIDE.

SOUTH RIVERSIDE, March 8.—
(Regular Correspondence.) P. M. Coburn has purchased John Lahr's fiveacre orange grove on Garretson avenue, This is a fine young grove and Mr. Coburn has one of the best properties in Orange Heights.

Another real estate deal this week is of considerable importance to this colour city. Norman E. Ives of Chicago, who is in the United States Pension Department at that city, while here on a visit, became so well pleased with South Riverside that he purchased a splendid ten-acre grove from W. H. Jameson. The property is at the corner of Citron street and Buena Vista avenue. It is all planted to oranges and is four years old, the crop being considerable this season.

I've got enough stories to tell about how I done my biz to fill a armful of newspapers. If I hadn't got stuck on that little girl in Los Angeles, this country detective never would have got me, sure pop. I'd been in Arizona by this time."

The good that the last rains have done for the human race is shown by the fact that business has been duller for the physicians in the past week.

The City Trustees have instructed City Attorney Owen to prepare an ordinance changing the names of eight thoroughfares in Pomona, so that there may be no misunderstanding by letter-carriers in this place as to streets having misleading names. Thus Elizabeth street will be officially named Main, as it has been popularly known for a decade. Artesia street and Artesia boulevard will have different names.

Carpenters, masons and painters say that these weeks are the quietest in their lines of work they have known in Pomona in over two years.

While San Bernardino is surrounded with smaller communities of great prosperity, between those localities and this city is a circular zone spansely populated, which has never been brought to a high stage of productiveness. San Bernardino has contributed greatly to the success of its neighboring towns, but nas neglected to develop its own possibilities. The Kansas City tract and Rialto are near enough to this city to be, from a commercial point of view, a portion of the city, while there are thousands of other acres which have long been held by those who operated according to early-day ideas of farming, thereby neglecting the possibilities of extensive cultivation, such as the growing of beets. Business men longing for greater commercial activity, can not only find cause for congratuation from the course of events, but should find therein a stimulus to activity in promoting neglected possibilities of the city.

Correspondence.) There is little doubt that Redlands will be provided with a cannery, employing from 100 to 2:00 hands, in time to handle the coming deciduous fruit crop.

T. L. Hites, who represents a Chicago firm, with whom the Chamber of Commerce has been in correspondence, is in the city and a public meeting will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to learn whether the people are willing to do their part to secure the establishment of the cannery. The company asks $5600 and a site as a bonus. There is little doubt that it will be given. The establishment, if secured, will not only handle deciduous fruits, but will endeavor to work up orange culis into merchantable commodities, such as marmalades, etc. Redlands seems to be fortunately situated for such an establishment. Its orange, lemon and peach products are already well known. But it has other horticultural products. Just above Redlands is the Yucaipe Valley, sloping from an altitude of 2500 feet to 5000 feet, on which is the largest cherry orchard in Southern California, and where apples, pears and other varieties of hardy fruit are grown in lacrensing quantities. Beside these there are hundreds of acres of olives approaching the productive period, while below Redlands are many acres of land exceedingly well adapted to berries and guavas, as well as vegetables. In fact, it has been truthfully said that within twenty miles of Redlands can be produced, in appropriate climate, any crop grown from Florida to Greenland.

Importance is to be transacted.

The appeals of various property-owners from the Maple-avenue sewer assessment, made by the Street Superintendent, come up for hearing at 10 o'clock this morning.

The ground of these appeals and protests has been gone over before, and the Council is familiar with the situation, and has already practically decided the matter, but, nevertheless, the protestants, some of whom are attorneys, in a small way, and prone to verblage, will have to be given license to rehearse the matter at this morning's session of the Council. The case is an important one, involving a large expenditure of money by the contractor, who is now alleged by the protestants to have undertaken his work without due legal authority, and to have secured an extension of time by other than fair and proper means.

Reports will be received by the Council doday from the Committee on Public Morals, recommending that the Methodist preachers' petition, relating to Sunday work on street improvements, be referred to the City Engineer, with instructions to amend the specifications in accordance with the petition, and from the Public Market Committee, recommending that all bids received for a public market site be rejected, and new proposals be adver-

Three Mexicans were driving along in a wagon and drew near the railroad crossing. They saw the train approaching. They all three had more or less liquor—the driver more. To show the flery metal of his steeds, he urged them forward, attempting to cross the track in front of the swiftly-moving train. He saw in a flash that he had miscalculated, leaped from the wagon with a yell of terror and ran for his life. At the latest accounts he was rapidly descending the farther side of Mount San Bernardino.

The two other men who were in the wagon, Jose Acosta and L. Sanchez, were too much frightened to jump. The horses got across, the Mexicans got across, but the train crashed into the rear end of the wagon, smashed it into smithereens, knocked the Mexicans out and scared the horses out of a year's growth.

ESCAPING GAS.

an Arizona Man Has an Unpleasan

A. Z. Hartzler came near death yesterday. It was another case of asphyxiation. But this time it seems likely that carelessness and not suicidal intent was the cause.

tent was the cause.

Mr. Hartzler is a man of forty years of age, steady and not given to drink. He recently leased his ranch near Mesa City, Ariz., and came to Los Angeles to seek employment as a carpenter. It was last Tuesday that he registered to the Paced House, No. 116 East First

It was warm weather in Arizona when Mr. Hartzler started for the coast, It was so much cooler in Los Angeles that he caught a bad cold, and has been sneezing and rubbing his eyes and drinking hot lemonade ever since, trying to get well again. The most of the time he has stayed indoors, reading and resting and taking care of himself. Saturday evening he went to see an old Arizona friend named Rice, who is employed at the Arcade Depot. He returned to the lodging-house at 8 o'clock, in a cheerful and contented frame of mind, chatted pleasantly with Mr. Reed, the proprietor, for a little while, and then went to bed, after saying he believed he felt better.

About 8 o'clock yesterday morning a saying he believed he felt better.

About 8 o'clock yesterday morning a friend called to see Mr. Hartzler. Repeated knockings on the door brought no response. Much alarmed, the visitor pulled down the upper sash of a window opening into the hall, and, looking in, saw Mr. Hartzler lying unconscious in the bed. A flood of gas poured from the room. The friend raised the lower sash, jumped into the room, and unlocked the door. Then he hurried away to summon the patrol room, and unlocked the door. Then he hurried away to summon the patrol wagon, and a doctor, while J. C. Kooken and another lodger picked up the unconscious man, bedclothes and all, and carried him into the hall. The unconscious man was hurried to the Receiving Hospital and everything possible done to relieve him. He lay speechless all day, but toward evening he grew better.

possible done to relieve him. He lay speechless all day, but toward evening he grew better.

Mr. Reed, the lodging-house keeper, declares it was accident and not intention which brought Mr. Hartzler so near to death. His cheerful and tranquil air the night before and the fact that he was found lying in bed just as he had fallen asieep, with neither farewell letters nor will lying in the room, all seem to argue against a theory of attempted suicide.

Mr. Reed says the key of the gas jet in the man's room turned very easily. He believes Mr. Hartzler turned off the gas and unconsciously turned it on again a little bit. This offers a plausible explanation of the fact he was still alive when found, for it is probable the gas escaped so slowly that it was not until early this morning enough had accumulated to do any harm.

By 3 o'clock Mr. Hartzler had recovered sufficiently to talk. He assured the men who were caring for him that it was entirely due to an accident that he came so near dying. He said the stopcock of the gas jet was one of the kind which turns round and round, and inadvertently he turned it on again after turning it off.

THE GREAT AND GROWING NEED OF A NEWSBOYS' HOME.

Lads with No Home or Bad Homes Can be Made into Good Citisens— They Are Street Boys for Rev-

"Want a paper? All about the ax'dent. Here you are, sir." The cheerful howls echo at every turn and corner twice a day. Rain or shine, it is just the same. The ragged little urchins plow through the mud and rain, and scamper over the dry, hot pavement in the burning sun, all as though it were the best joke in the world, and hunger and poverty were as far from them as from the Rothschilds. In the darkness and chill of the early morning, the very hours when to curl up among the warm blankets seems the acme of bliss to any well-regulated boy, the swarm of plucky, noisy little urchins collect around the press-rooms, ready to dart forth upon their first rounds the moment they receive the coveted armful of papers.

It is not an easy life, and the gains of the little fellows are but small, but it is virtually independence for many of them, being an occupation by which they can earn an honest living, however meagre, and obtain some training for more substantial business in the future. If the citizens of Los Angeles establish the Newsboys' Home, which is being so earnestly worked for by the charitable men and women who have done what they could to help the boys, it will be one of the best enterprises of 1896, be the other what it may.

The courts are overflowing with petty criminal cases, and the falls are crowded with men who have grown into a life of dissipation and crime from a boyhood of idleness and unbridled license. Complaints are heard about the overcrowding of the reform schools, and the heavy expense to the State consequent upon each new commitment. The truest economy would be to prevent boys from becoming incorrigible.

They are not born bad. Occasionally a case of inherent moral monstroosity horrifles society, but the mass of humankind will be decent if it gets a fair show during childhood, when the mind receives its strongest impressions for good or ill. Orphan asylums and homes do much for one class, but the little rustlers who earn their own bread should have a taste of home life as well as those who are utterly helpless and dependent. They are on the streets during nearly all their waking hours, and there should be some influence strong enough to counteract the leasons they too often learn there.
